The Plus Size Date Night Dress That Will Blow His Mind

Author: Jen Anderson • Discussion: No Comments

The Mina Dress comes in Melon, Green and Black

There are date night dresses that inspire your partner to say you look nice. And then there are those dresses that turn heads. Shavonne Dorsey's Mina Dress is one of those.

This dress is what you wear when your inner goddess wants to come out to play. The twisted strap and extra fabric flowing down the back makes you look like you just walked down from Mount Olympus. Sometimes you just want to look stunning.

The Mina Dress hugs all the right curves. The draped fabric in front conceals a multitude of sins, so feel free to skip the shapewear. Sure it requires a strapless bra, but some dresses are worth it.

So few dresses show the perfect amount of skin. A lower neckline or a higher hemline would make Mina vulgar. But no. Mina shows off your shapely arms and legs while remaining classy and elegant.

What else can we say besides, "va-va-voom!" Mina's design calls to Ancient Greece and the glamorous 1960s without looking like a costume. Who can resist such an elegant combination of old and new?

You won't be able to wear Mina just once. Just picture yourself wearing Mina while walking into a fancy restaurant on Valentine's Day. Then wearing it again for your high school reunion to show off how fabulous you look. And then again for a dinner cruise celebrating a special anniversary.

You're going to start looking for excuses to wear this dress. And Mina is well made enough to last through all your special occasions.

Not a dress for wallflowers, Mina shows that you're not a woman to be overlooked.

Mina comes in melon, green, and black, so you're sure to find a shade that suits your skin tone. It's most flattering on hourglass, inverted triangle and pear shaped women. (Apples and rectangles will prefer Shavonne Dorsey's Bella Dress.)

The Mina Dress is perfect for travel – the jersey fabric doesn't wrinkle easily, so be sure to pack it for all your world travels.
