Discussion:

--- Conservation Hub: E. Myers asked what was the intent of that tab on the website and what are we doing with it. B. Bolt reported it would be a place for posting our position letters and for members to see what we support and if they want to support items themselves. M. Milleson reported it would be a place to post anything related to the conservation committee. D. Gawlik reported that we have lots of information and we need to get it to M. Milleson to put online.

--- Implementation Plan to Enhance the Conservation Capabilities of the Chapter: D. Gawlik reported that 2 immediate actions the committee was tasked with have been accomplished (created a decision tree to screen issues and charging the Associate Conservation Chairs |

- All: Provide information to M. Milleson to post online on the Conservation Hub.
- E. Myers will check on our position letter regarding the surplusing of state lands. Post Script: Received and signed on 10/29/13.
with their duties). The other item, a web tool kit, should be completed by December 2013.

--J. Humphrey asked about the private deer hunting issue and if Nick Wiley was supportive of the issue. D. Gawlik reported that it was approved by the FFWCC Commission. T. O’Meara reported that it didn’t matter if Nick Wiley supported the issue or not that it was up to the Commission to make the decision and that Nick Wiley wished FLTWS had better coordinated with FWC on the position letter. Discussion ensued.

--Surplusing of State Lands: H. Boyter reported an update. ARC was asked to put together a list of “surplus” lands to sell. ARC asked the agencies to provide them each of their lists. H. Boyter reported that many groups requested a more clearly defined definition of what “no longer needed for conservation” means. Discussion ensued. H. Boyter reported that the “surplus” list needs to be looked at carefully at this point because there are some critical lands on it. The list is online for anyone to review.

Education & Information

J. Gless reported that the newsletter will be sent out in late October. Any information of interest to members continues to be sent to M. Milleson, P. Delaney and the rest of the web team. The FLTWS Facebook site currently has 299 fans. News, pictures and events of interest continue to be posted. Thank you to those members that have kept us in the loop on things happening around the state.

Fundraising

M. Ausley and L. Perrin reported they are gearing up for sponsorships for the Spring conference and are always happy to take on new committee members.

Membership

P. Brouse reported:

--The most recent renewals and new members from National are not included in our current membership numbers. He continues to receive information from them inconsistently since they changed the format.

--As of October 22”th, 224 members have current memberships. Our 2012 membership was 184. Several memberships expired or will expire this month and next month.

--Separate reminders were sent out to three groups within the last month: 1) memberships about to expire within 6 weeks, 2) memberships expired within the last 6 months, and 3) memberships expired 6 to 12 months ago. Reminders have also gone out in previous months. --We have 21 current members who have taken advantage of the "Free First Year" program. While this program is also open to returning members who have been gone for 5 or more years, only one returning member has taken advantage of this. The first members to sign up under this program will be up for renewal this month.

Nominations and Elections
Nothing to report.

Scholarship
H. Ober reported that we are now giving away two scholarships, 1 for undergraduate students and 1 for graduate students at $2,000 each. Scholarship applications are due in December.

Student Chapter
Nothing to report.

Program Committee
S. Nagid reported on the Spring 2014 conference date, location and events. The conference will be held on April 28th to May 1st in Safety Harbor partnering with FLEPPC. Still working on a theme and will have symposium, plenary, CISMA workshop, DJed reception, student technical session, concurrent technical sessions, field trips and banquet/awards.

Website
M. Milleson reported:
--Website committee team is M. Milleson, L. Calle, E. Tillman and P. Delaney. You can send emails to the team at website.team@fltws.org.
--To assist the team, it would be good if a student chapter member who is in charge of their web stuff could be given access to our site so they can add to it.
--A species spotlight section was added for monthly content.
--The photo contest was successful and had great submissions, which also produced some new members.
--The members only section is just the membership list and there is some debate as to whether we want to keep this section. It was determined this section is unnecessary at this time.
--Moving our site to a new server location which would have a more modern look, has better content management and has better picture resolution. The only drawback is that there isn’t a module for member only accounts. Discussion ensued.
--Visitor counter is still on the to-do list.
--Conservation hub still needs more content.

- M. Milleson to work on adding a visitor counter to the website.
- More input needed for Conservation Hub section of website.
- M. Milleson to look into an alternative safe way to display the membership list and will remove the Members Only section from the website.
| Old Business | FL Conservation Coalition
This topic was not discussed at this meeting, however no actions were taken between the Spring 2013 meeting and the Fall 2013 meeting, therefore this topic still needs resolved. The following is carried over from the approved Spring 2013 minutes:
H. Boyter reported that FLTWS should join FL Conservation Coalition (FCC). Priorities include funding for water management districts, funding FL Forever, restoring Everglades, protecting waterways of Florida, managing resources at regional level, promoting responsible water use, and privatization of water resources of FL. There were questions on where the money comes from and if FCC is involved in litigation. Most attendees felt more information was needed to make a decision. D. Gawlik asked H. Boyter to provide more information so the Board can address this at the next board meeting. B. Bolt motioned that H. Boyter do additional research on FCC and bring it to the Board to vote on. T. O’Meara seconded. |
| New Business | E. Myers reported on upcoming events:
--Florida Panther Festival in November 2013 (Naples, E. Myers to attend)
--Space Coast Birding and Wildlife Festival on January 22-26, 2014 (Titusville, B. Bolt to attend)
--Florida Scrub-Jay Festival on February 8, 2014 (Lyonia Preserve, Deltona, M. Zondervan to attend)
--Everglades Day in February 2014 (Loxahatchee NWR, D. Gawlik to attend)
--Pelican Island Wildlife Festival in March 2014 (Sebastian, S. Rockwood to attend) |
| Adjourn | Meeting adjourned at 4:37pm. | • H. Boyter to research the FCC and bring information back to the Board for review (action item carried over from Spring 2013 minutes). |

Addendum 2 – Mentoring Discussion Summary

FLTWS 2013 Fall Business Meeting

Mentoring Discussion

Groups of 5: Three Student Questions (2 groups); Three Professional Questions (2 groups)

30 Minute Discussion

Student Questions:

1. What do students/new professionals need from FLTWS?
2. Is there a certain time during career development or area where they need assistance? (i.e. field work, job shadowing, lacking what during school that we can expand upon?)
3. What fields or topics are mentees most interested in? (i.e. species, habitat, research, land management, park services, etc)

Student Group Responses:

1. Students/new professionals would like to have one contact person at FLTWS to coordinate with the university contacts so the university coordinator can get the information back to the students. They need more than just a one-time email or contact effort and they don’t always read the emails and notices, there needs to be continual contact/information flow in electronic, hard copy and in-person forms. They would like a mentor to come to campus to recruit/speak to students to illustrate how new professionals will need to work their way up from an entry level position and the realities of working in the conservation field. They want to use the FLTWS mentoring list in the internship class to force students to do an internship since the class requires students serve somewhere during the semester. The mentor list and guidelines needs to be updated and put on the FLTWS website in order for university professors and students to have access to it to be able to make a student-professional connection. There is also a new class at UF that Bill Giuliano teaches where FLTWS could discuss with him if a volunteering requirement could be incorporated into his curriculum. Another idea was to get extra credit for the Techniques class if a student volunteers somewhere.
2. The students recommended to start with job shadowing and to have actual field tasks mixed with office tasks to demonstrate a more realistic work scenario.
3. They need help with interviewing skills and professional behavior.

Professional Questions:

1. How do we engage professionals/ what’s in it for them?
2. What are the limitations to being a mentor? (i.e. time, character (patience, personality differences, confidence), location)
3. How would a mentor handle the logistics of an “out of town” mentee?

Professional Group Responses:

1. FLTWS needs to determine what the objective of the mentoring program is and develop a good mentor list, guidelines and standard mentor form. These documents should clearly state how to be a mentor, mentor contact information, internship job descriptions, mentor expectations of the mentee, an expected timeline/schedule for the internship and what the mentor can provide (i.e. stipend, housing, per diem, mileage, etc.). There should be one person within FLTWS that is the central go-to person to coordinate the mentor program, make the contacts/connections and keep the information updated.

2. Limitations for someone to be a mentor include liability issues (i.e. insurance), legal issues (i.e. background checks), lack of knowledge about what a mentor’s agency/organization already has in place for a volunteer program, not enough time for a mentor to find out the information and make the connections, the need for interns to have some basic applied knowledge and skills and that it takes a lot of time to train an intern. Things FLTWS could do to assist with these limitations include having a mentor program coordinator to talk to the agencies/organizations to find out what is already in place and what any liability/legal issues or limitations are, prepare a guidelines document, determine what KSAs and trainings are needed by the mentors and provide appropriate student trainings at Fall and Spring meetings.

3. If a mentor had some guidelines to follow and knew what their agency/organization could provide, then they could work out the logistics better on a case-by-case basis. Professionals would like an internship evaluation that would be filled out by both the mentor and mentee at the end of the internship, which would then be provided back to the FLTWS mentor program coordinator to fine tune the program. Nametags at all meetings would be good to create familiarity between professionals and students. Technology and social media could be used to overcome many distance issues. The professional would have to write an internship description of what they expect and what they could provide in order to obtain the best possible candidate. A committee should be created to be in charge of designing the program and developing a product that is well designed and implemented to inspire both sides to want to use it.

Other Comments:

We may be talking about two different programs, 1) how do we mentor students and 2) how do we engage the members. The mentor program could be a full time job with trying to coordinate with all the agencies and setup the program. The mentor guidelines should state that said mentor will go to the local university at least once a year and speak to multiple student groups at one time so the mentor can visit once and not have to visit each group separately.
