

A former employer assigned me to write an email for him asking his friends and family to donate money to his granddaughter's JDRF team.

[Due to the medical content, names and links have been redacted.]

From: Jen

To: [REDACTED]

Sent: Wednesday, February 17, 2016 1:10 PM

Subject: [REDACTED] JDRF Letter

To my family and my closest friends,

As many of you know, I never ask for much. However, today is different. I am asking for support on behalf of my granddaughter [REDACTED], who has been diagnosed with type 1 Juvenile Diabetes (also known as T1D). The day she became diagnosed was one of the worst days in my life.

Living with T1D is a daily battle that my granddaughter never signed up for. Watching my little girl spend her childhood years being a victim to shots, finger pricks, and hospitalizations has broken my heart.

The JDRF has given me hope for [REDACTED] to have a life that isn't so medically oriented. Each year, the JDRF helps fund lab research to help prevent and control T1D.

This year on April 2nd, the JDRF is hosting a walk to end T1D in Boca Raton, FL. Please donate or register to walk for Team [REDACTED]. Any and all donation amounts are greatly appreciated.

Below is a link to the Team [REDACTED] page:

[http://\[REDACTED\]](http://[REDACTED])

I would like to thank you for all of your support and kind words during [REDACTED]'s life this far.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED] and [REDACTED]