Join BLUEorange Gallery and Suplex Projects for a potluck-style brunch and moderated discussion with artists Lance McMahan, Roxanna Tuff, and Giovanni Valderas on the relationships between food, memory, and cultural identity on Sunday, March 9 from 1-2:30PM. Bring your family's heirloom dish along with copies of the recipe to share with guests. After a 30-minute discussion between the three artists and Suplex member Rachel Vogel, the audience will be asked to share the family recipes with one-another.

Admission is free, but space is limited.
