

Brook Street

Matching the census to the actual houses in Brook Street is difficult as there has been numbering changes in this street. The following is my best guess.

1 Brook Street

Number 1 Brook Street is probably now part of Tomotito's - formerly the Wheatsheaf on Lion Street.

(1?) Brook Street                      1841 Census

Brookfield House

Grade II Date Listed 2/1/1988 Record ID 7327

Photo - Brookfield House in 1940's - confusingly called Brook House before 1911 - as the house across the road.

Listing gives: C17 origins with C19.

Exterior refronting and heightening; L-plan. 3-storey, 3 window coursed rubble front with plinth and later cross range to left. Slate roof and rubble end chimney stacks, with weathercoursing to left.

Recessed casement 3-light windows with concrete lintels; 4-panel door off-centre to left under modern hood. C19 gable-ended 1-window parallel rubble range forward to left with wide eaves; horned sash and hopper window to front. Wave ornamented bargeboards and finial to right hand gable end over attached hipped roof Victorian Schoolroom, screened to front by brick wall. 2-storey rear retaining steep roof pitch; central dormer with sash window; some small pane sashes to left. To left rubble wall screens the stable courtyard with coursed rubble gable ended coach house and stables, splayed back to rear and adjoining the former corn mill. The interior retains broad entrance hall with exposed timber frame and post and panel partitions. Massive stop chamfer moulded cross beams; the outer ones showing evidence of having held screens; timber lintel to fireplace and boarded shutters. Fine dog-leg staircase with flat pierced balusters (except to top landing), square newels with chamfered edges and finials. Mezzanine floor to right following raising of dining room ceiling. Boarded doors to attic and original A-frame roof trusses retained with massive purlins.

The buildings date to the medieval period (the Stable), and the main house was built between 1620 and 1660. Significant Georgian extensions to the building were made between 1776 and 1790. The roof was raised on the front of the Jacobean house to add windows and a usable second floor: ashlar markings were added to the front, and an extension was built to join the building to its 'outside' kitchen, also providing a grand Georgian bedroom, a 'new' kitchen and servants quarters. At the same time a Georgian coach house was added to the front of the stables.

In 1843, the 'school room' (now the Jacobean house's kitchen) was built in a period when the building was used as a school.

The 'open-plan' hallway as it was in the 1950's. At some point, the hall and drawing room were separated with beautiful oak panelling.

Brook House, Hay

Grade: II

Date Listed: 2 January 1988

Cadw Building ID: 7328

Listing gives: Probably later C18 with later alterations. 2-storey broad 2-window coursed rubble front with plinth. Slate roof, skylight, boarded eaves and rubble end chimney stacks with weathercoursing and moulded caps. Voussoir lintels and keystones over 4-pane sash windows. Bracketed hood over central entrance with reeded pilasters, panelled reveals and carved entablature; 4-panel (half glazed) door. Blocked basement opening to right. Casement attic window on left gable end was partially obscured when Brooke Cottage was added in later C19.

Electricity was first installed in Hay in Brook House, the home of Mr. W. Lilwall and Mr. W. Elson, his son-in-law. It was switched on on 13 March 1913, the day that Elson's eldest child was born. Light was installed in the bedroom for the nurse to deliver the baby. The original installation was powered by Tangye (Birmingham) gas engines, the gas being produced from anthracite. These two engines were known as the 'big' and 'little' engines, and were set up in sheds at the rear of Brook House. Later, as demand increased, they were joined by an oil engine manufactured by Peter Brotherhood Ltd. of Chippenham, Wilts. (see Fairs p. 119)

Icehouse, Chancery House (formerly Prospect House), (now Poetry Bookshop)

Grade: II

Date Listed: 2 January 1988

Cadw Building ID: 7322

The icehouse is 4.2m in diameter and approximately 4.6m deep. The stone walls are 70cm thick and are lined with shelves supported by metal rods; the top shelf bears eighty iron hooks. The walls are stuccoed externally, as is the dome. A large metal ventilator to the top. This is the best example of a Welsh larder. NPRN 405603
