How your membership helps the industry grow stronger:

The Fitness Industry Technology Council is a group of professionals representing leading companies/organizations in the fitness industry. The council seeks to grow the fitness industry, improve the fitness user experience and mature the collection of real-time wellness data through the creation of interoperability standards for technology-based fitness devices.

FIT-C was formed to address the following industry issues:

- Mobilize resources to drive the fitness industry forward
- Develop and promote technology standards for fitness equipment
- Protect the intellectual property and current and prospective participants
- Provide a means for all sectors of the fitness industry to participate

FIT-C is established as a non-profit membership organization.
