We are pleased to invite you to our Tenth Conference sponsored by the International Seminar on Pre-Reformation Theology of Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary and the American Cusanus Society. What better way to hold a conference than in historic Gettysburg during its most brilliant season!

The conference committee (Donald Duclow, Nancy Hudson, David Zachariah Flanagin, together with Peter Casarella and ourselves ex officio) invites us to consider late medieval and Reformation piety, especially confession and the penitential system, which emphasized the humanity of Jesus Christ and the need for reform, both personal and ecclesial, on the model of Jesus’ life. The conference will also focus on Nicholas of Cusa who hungered for direct knowledge of God, but was forced to admit the limits of human knowledge, "learned ignorance" (docta ignorantia), in order to advance his quest. And it will place this quest in the larger context of Christ-conformity (Christiformitas), including the need to test the limits of the human capacity to know God and imitate Christ, and the "paradigm shift" of Martin Luther, moving from faith formed by charity to faith inspired by grace freely given.

We expect the usual creative mix of plenary presentations and working sessions that will allow all to discuss fresh translations of relevant letters of Cusanus, appearing in English for the first time.

You are welcome to join us.
