

PRESS RELEASE

INSPHERE Ltd Offers their Perspective as a Growing Company Supporting the Future of Advanced Manufacturing to a Discussion Panel at Her Majesty's Treasury with Senior Members of Parliament

On 22nd February, INSPHERE's Chief Executive, Ben Adeline met with Rt Hon Elizabeth Truss MP, Chief Secretary to the Treasury, and Robert Jenrick MP, Exchequer Secretary to the Treasury.

The CEO of INSPHERE was invited to a discussion at HM Treasury to share the experiences of their rapidly growing company and discuss economic policy and entrepreneurship to support the future of advanced manufacturing in the UK.

INSPHERE's innovative approach and thought leadership has driven the rapid growth of the organisation. The invitation to participate in the discussion is a testament to INSPHERE's expertise and unique position in the field of dimensional measurement for advanced manufacturing.

For more information on INSPHERE, please visit www.insphereltd.com or email info@insphereltd.com

ENDS

Notes to Editors

INSPHERE are experts in dimensional measurement and providing solutions to simplify and increase the productivity of measurement processes. They provide measurement automation solutions, sub-contract services, measurement training and consultancy across a range of industries including aerospace, energy, marine and automotive. Their expertise and best-practice measurement approaches ultimately generate production efficiencies, enhancing manufacturing productivity.