Opposing Viewpoints in Context is an engaging online experience for those seeking contextual information and opinions on hundreds of today's hottest social issues. Drawing on the acclaimed Greenhaven Press series, the new solution features continuously updated viewpoint articles, topic overviews, full-text magazines, academic journals, news articles, primary source documents, statistics, images, videos, audio files, and links to vetted websites organized into a user-friendly portal experience.

U.S. History in Context is for those seeking contextual information on hundreds of the most significant people, events and topics in US History.

World History in Context is for those seeking contextual information on hundreds of the most significant people, events and topics in World History.

Global Issues in Context offers global perspectives on issues of international importance, and current world events and topics in the news related to these issues. Not a pro and con database, Global Issues in Context is a truly non-U.S. centric resource that ties together a variety of sources to present a rich analysis of issues—providing information seekers with a framework to better understand 21st-century issues and events while highlighting global connections and the interdependence of all nations.

JSTOR offers high-quality interdisciplinary content to support scholarship and teaching. It includes over one thousand leading academic journals across the humanities, social sciences, and science, as well as select monographs and other materials valuable for academic work. Additional collections include valuable primary source content complementary to the academic journals and monographs. The entire corpus is full-text searchable, offers search term highlighting, includes high-quality images, and is interlinked by millions of citations and references. The content is expanded on international publications as well as pamphlets, images, and manuscripts from libraries, societies, and museums.
