

Privacy Policy

Vino Allegro has established this privacy policy as our commitment to your privacy and the protection of your information. When you visit our website, we will not collect your personal information unless you choose to subscribe to our content and receive email updates such as newsletter, blogs, and requests for contact from us.

We try to protect against the loss, misuse and alteration of data used by our website. For example, your contact information is not visible to others who also receive information from us and we do not release your information to any outside parties. We do not share, sell, or rent individual personal information with anyone without your advance permission or unless ordered by a court of law.

If an attempt to damage our site has been detected, we endeavor to take any further action necessary to notify you and protect your security.

Our website may contain links to other sites created and maintained by other organizations. We provide these links solely for your information and convenience. When you follow a link to an outside website, you are leaving our website, and our information management policies no longer apply. We do not assume and are not responsible for any liability whatsoever for the linking of any of these websites; the operation or content (including the right to display such information) of any of the websites; nor for any of the information, interpretation, comments or opinions expressed in any of the linked websites. Any comments or inquiries regarding the websites are to be directed to the particular organization for whom the particular website is being operated.

If you received an email from us, your e-mail address has been provided to us to receive information about our products or services; or you have an existing relationship with us. If you no longer wish to receive this correspondence, you may unsubscribe at any time.

You may choose to provide us with personal information such as your name, address, phone number and email address, if you wish to:

- Submit an email, comment, question or request
- Subscribe for information online (e.g., newsletter, blog, emails)
- Provide feedback or participate in online surveys
- Order wine from us online
- Join our wine club

Information submitted to us is only available to personnel managing this information for purposes of contacting you or sending you emails based on your request for information and/or communications from us.

Remove yourself from our mailing list

Each email you receive from us will include a link to automatically unsubscribe from our e-mail list.

If you have received unwanted and/or unsolicited e-mail allegedly sent via this system, please forward a copy of the email with your comments to wine@vinoallegro.com for our review.

Questions?

Please contact us with any questions or concerns.