

Label Review

We're proud to have helped some seriously amazing chefs take their product out of the kitchen and into the marketplace.

Bulletproof! advises on label design & content which is consumer-friendly and violation-proof.

FDA, USDA, New York State, and other municipalities require a raft of declarations, from allergens to contents to place of manufacture, and more.

Not only does principle display panel inform consumers, it is regulated by multiple laws which have been updated under FDA's FSMA. Is your product compliant and current?

A well-designed label can be the difference between the Regulatory Authority embargoing your product... and your product being a marketplace success.
