

This is a square foot.

We have over 1.5 million more if you need 'em.

And that's just one reason Louisville is the perfect place to hold your next convention, retreat or company outing. In fact, Louisville was recently ranked by Tradeshow Week 200 as one of the top 10 show sites in the nation, not to mention being recognized for hosting four of the top 25 trade shows in the country. And if you're looking for variety, in addition to the Kentucky International Convention Center and the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center, Louisville offers a three-theater contemporary performance space at the Kentucky Center for the Arts, the 2,800-seat Louisville Palace, the Kentucky Derby Museum, Churchill Downs and the Louisville Slugger Museum. All of which means, Louisville has arguably more reasons per square foot to hold your next event than just about anywhere else on earth.

