MAJOR INTERNET OPTOMETRIC EDUCATION PROJECTS

1997 The Indiana Optometric Association Website: In 1997, Dr, Windsor developed the initial web site, www.ioa.org, for the Indiana Optometric Association to provide information to the public and to connect members. Today his daughter is the webmaster of this site.

1997: The NORA Virtual Campus: Dr, Windsor developed the original NORA Virtual Campus, an extensive Internet site on Neuro-Optometric Rehabilitation for the Neuro-Optometric Rehabilitation Association and was webmaster for three years. It provides information to patients, family and professionals on the optometric rehabilitation of brain injury patients..

1996: The Low Vision Gateway to the Internet: In 1996, Dr. Windsor developed the Low Vision Gateway, a comprehensive source for low vision information on the Internet

- www.lowvision.org. It is deliberately designed not to promote his personal practice. It has been accessed by doctors and patients around the world. It has 70,000 hits per month.
- 2009 BiopticDrivingUSA.com: Many visually-impaired individuals can be helped to continue to drive safely with the use of bioptic systems and specialized training. This site educates individuals about this option.
- 2010 Achromatopsia.info: This site is the comprehensive educational site on the rare condition, Achromatopsia. The site features video animations to help patients, family, educators and professionals better understand this rare condition.
- 2011 Hemianopsia.net: This site educates patients on the problem of visual field loss called hemianopsia that frequently occurs with stroke or other brain injury or tumor.

OTHER MAJOR PROJECTS

- 1996: IOA Primary Eye Care Brochure: Dr. Windsor co-wrote the Indiana Optometric Association's, "Optometry: Primary Eye Care" Brochure. It has been used to educate third party gatekeeper, legislators and governmental regulators
- 1991: Indiana Therapeutic Legislation 1991: As Vice President of the Indiana Optometric Association was heavily involved in the passing of pharmacology legislation and served as the first IOA chairman of the I-Task Force, appointed by the IOA to help implement the new law. As President of the Indiana Optometric Association, he successfully led an effort to change the optometry formulary to broad categories.
- 1985: Development of the Indiana Bioptic Driving Program: Working with other members of the Board of Directors of the Indiana Low Vision Rehabilitation Society and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Dr. Windsor helped to develop Indiana's bioptic driving guidelines. To date, over 700 have obtained drivers licenses through this program. Dr. Windsor is co-planner of the International Symposium on Bioptic Driving to be held in Indianapolis in the summer of 2004.
- 1984: Comprehensive School Screening Program: Dr. Windsor helped develop a comprehensive multi-disciplinary preschool screening for the Blackford County School system provided screening for over 12 years.
- 1982 Development of Regional Low Vision Clinics: With his associates, Drs Fettig, Ford and Scott, Dr. Windsor developed a series of regional low vision clinics in Marion, Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. These centers have continued to grow. Today the Indianapolis centers see patients from throughout the United States around the world. Recent international patients have come from Malta, Mexico and China.
- 1974: Regional Optometric Nursing Home Care: Developed a program to provide quality professional provide eye care to nursing home residents in Indiana. This program was later featured in Modern Health Care Magazine to nursing home administrators. In 1991, he authored: "The Management of Low Vision Patients Who are Homebound or in Long Term Health Care Facilities" in Lippincott's Problems in Optometry. It is the most comprehensive treatise on low vision care in the nursing home setting. It has been circulated by the AOA nationally as a model for other optometrists.

COURSES DEVELOPED

- 1996: Indiana University Neuro-Optometric Rehabilitation Course: This program has been presented yearly for six years as part of the Indiana University School of Optometry's Advanced Therapeutic Course. It introduces students to evaluation and management of the brain injury patient. 1996
