

Cor Flammae [kor 'flam.maj] flaming heart

109 Word Bio

Cor Flammae is Vancouver's summer chorus of classically trained, queer singers, performing queer content. Composed from the ranks of the city's top-flight choral ensembles and singers, the choir seeks to reveal the hidden queer heritage often ignored in the conservative world of classical music.

Exploring works ranging from those of well-known historical figures to pieces by celebrated contemporary composers, Cor Flammae forges a common thread between past and present, illuminating the rich and furtive spaces left out by the usual account. The ensemble hopes to give visibility to queer identities within a musical template, and change the way we listen to the music of our talented community.

48 Word Bio

Cor Flammae is Vancouver's summer chorus of classically trained, queer singers, performing modern and historical queer content. Composed from the ranks of the city's top-flight choral ensembles and singers, the choir seeks to reveal the hidden queer heritage often ignored in the conservative world of classical music.

17 Word Bio

Cor Flammae is Vancouver's summer chorus of classically trained, queer singers, performing historical and modern queer content.