1 Name

---

The society's full name is "Queensland University of Technology Electrical Engineering Student Society", or abbreviated to QUT EESS or EESS.

1.1 Affiliation

QUT EESS may only be affiliated with associations, clubs or businesses that directly benefits QUT EESS. No affiliation should benefit any member more than the EESS. By-law 2 stipulates the conditions of EESS Affiliations.

1.2 Constitution Modification

Editing and/or modifying the constitution can only take place at an AGM and where at least 20% of the club's current members agree to the proposed constitution changes.

1.3 Common Goals

QUT EESS's common goals are to establish a community between Electrical-related Engineering students and QUT as a whole. We aim to help develop events that benefit students, both in a career and social sense. Creating stronger relationships between students, academic staff and the wider community will help make QUT a better place for all involved.

2 Executive Positions

The executive board is comprised of at least the following roles:

- President
- Vice President
- Treasurer
- Secretary

2.1 Nominations for Executive Roles

See By-Law 2.6.

2.2 Responsibilities

It is expected that all executives:

- Contribute ideas to the development of the society
- Notify other executives as soon as possible if they will not be able to attend meetings or complete a task by a set deadline.

Other responsibilities for executives are outlined in By-Law 2.2.

3 Basic Membership

Membership for QUT EESS is available to all students, QUT wide. To become an official member, the applicant must:

1. Provide personal details including: name, email address, contact number and student number.
2. Pay the current membership fee.

At any time, if deemed necessary by the executive board, a membership application and/or current membership can be declined/cancelled at any time, for any reason.

3.1 Member Rules and Regulations

Becoming a QUT EESS paid member requires the applicant to:

1. Present their membership card at events that require member only access.
2. Contact QUT EESS executives if any issues arise regarding their membership.

---

4 Potential Obstacles

Potential obstacles that could arise include but not limited to:

- Personal commitments outside university (family, part time jobs),
- Personal commitments within university (Assignments, other extracurricular activities),
- Language barriers with students,
- Financial restraints - both personal and within QUT EESS,
- Policy restricting some of the activities we wish to undertake,

There is also a high likelihood that unexpected issues will turn up without warning, mainly due to most members having a vastly different background, and therefore different personal problems.

If one or more of these issues present problem(s), the consequences outlined in By-Law 2.3 will be carried out unless By-Law 2.4 is invoked.
