Parson's Porch & Company agrees to publish [REDACTED] under its imprint, Parson's Porch Books.

Please initial the following items to indicate your agreement.

___ Publish: Publication will occur within a week of the reception of an acceptable version of the manuscript and a signed agreement by the author and publisher. The author is responsible for presenting all materials in as complete and final a form as possible, and for reviewing in a timely manner any proofs submitted by the press before publication. Materials not returned to the publisher within 7 calendar days will be published without author's approval.

___ Formats: Books will be made available in print and e-book formats, such as Kindle. Audio formats are also available upon the author's request. Audio formats may require fees to publish book.

___ Permissions: The author is also responsible for securing permission for the use of any quoted, material, including artwork, and the press rejects responsibility for any wrongful use of material on the author's part.

___ Index and other additions: The author will furnish to the publisher any dedication, acknowledgments, indexes, or other additional materials in reasonable form and time before publication. Indexing services are available through Parson's Porch & Company for a fee of $2.00 per index-able page. Payment in full is required before indexing is started.

___ Termination: Either the author or the press may submit a request in writing for a termination of relationship at any time for an obvious violation of this agreement. Such termination may follow within 60 days of notification.

Requests for termination for frivolous reasons, as determined by the publisher, will not be granted until three months following written notification of such desire and a fee of $1000 is paid by the author to cover the cost of initial publication, provided that the author has purchased at least 100 copies. Termination fee will be waived if said book has sold over 100 copies.

___ Financial arrangements: Parson's Porch Books will bear all costs for publishing said work and making it available for sale. A royalty of 15% on the retail price of the book will be paid to the author, with an additional 5% on any sales between 100 and 999 plus an additional 5% on all copies above 1000. Free Copies: Two copies of the work will be sent to the author at the time of initial publication, and the author may purchase copies for personal use at retail price less 40% for the first 100 copies, less 45% for the second 100 copies and less 50% for all copies over 200 purchased.

___ Reports: The author will receive quarterly statements from the press. Payment will be made quarterly after the publisher receives payment for the sales made in the author's behalf.

____Marketing: Primary responsibility for the books marketing lies with the author, who is urged to publicize it with as many journals, area newspapers, and local organizations as possible. Parson's Porch Books will advertise the book on the Internet and make it available through Amazon.com and Parsonsporchbooks.com. Each book will also be available through Ingram Book Company and its subsidiaries. When requested, Parson's Porch will provide PayPal buttons for books to be sold on a personal website.

While Parson's Porch & Company will make every effort to assist each author to effectively market the author's book, we do not guarantee sales. Poor sales will be considered a frivolous reason to terminate a contract.

____Retail Price: While we make every effort to price a book for the most inexpensive price, there are several factors which are considered in making that decision. The publisher has the sole right to establish the retail price of each book published.

____Property: The author always owns one's book, including the cover art and interior design if the author provides both to us. However, the cover art and interior design of each book is the property of the publisher if it is created by PP&C. In this case, the final decision for the design of the book is the publishers.

____Signatures: Please sign below and return to the publisher.

Parson's Porch & Company

Parson's Porch & Company's business model is based on generosity. We give our time and services to our authors while hoping to receive enough in sales to cover our initial expenses and to share our profits with people who do not have enough resources to live a peaceful life. We do not require any payment for our services. However, we do encourage our authors to purchase their own books to cover the initial cost of publishing. If you would consider purchasing at least 100 books, your books will turn into bread on someone's table.
