

Peter Zlotnick: short bio
www.peterzlotnick.com

Peter Zlotnick lives in Greensboro, North Carolina and serves as the Principal Timpanist for the Greensboro Symphony, Salisbury Symphony, and Winston-Salem Symphony Orchestras. He is a founding member of Amphion Percussion and performs frequently with the Philidor Percussion Group. Peter also plays regularly in small groups on timpani, keyboard percussion, drum set, steel pan, and other percussion instruments.

In addition to performing, Peter is the Education Manager for the Greensboro Symphony where he coordinates small and large ensemble concerts, instructional programs, and the Greensboro Symphony Youth Orchestra.

During the school year, Peter teaches percussion through The Music Center, City Arts Greensboro. In the summer, he serves on the Instrumental Music faculty at North Carolina Governor's School West.

Peter received his M.M. in Percussion and Music Education from Northwestern University and B.M. from the Eastman School of Music.