RIDGEWOOD, NY -- Songs for Presidents is pleased to present PASÓ / PASO / PASA, a solo exhibition by multi-media artist, Nicky Santamaria. She explores themes of identity and language through painting, drawing, and installation works. Santamaria utilizes traditional techniques and materials with non-traditional and queer sensibilities. She explores the concept of language through its limitations and its power to shape the world around us.

Santamaria is a first generation American, born to Colombian parents in South Florida. She is now based out of Brooklyn, New York. PASÓ / PASO / PASA is Santamaria's first solo show in New York.

PASÓ / PASO / PASA is curated by Emma Fague, a curatorial intern, as part of Songs for Presidents' summer programming. This show is also Fague's first solo curatorial project in New York. They are based in Brooklyn, NY.
