

SuitUp At-A-Glance

Overview:

SuitUp increases career awareness for students in low-income communities by organizing volunteer events for corporations.

Since June 2014:

- Impacted more than 2,000 students
- Engaged more than 500 employees
- More than 100 schools in the SuitUp network
- Facilitated more than 4,000 volunteer hours

To Schedule An Event

Sign-Up Online
www.SuitUpNYC.com

Email
zach.graumann@suitupnyc.com

SIMPLE, EXCITING, AND IMPACTFUL COMMUNITY SERVICE FOR YOUR COMPANY

Not excited about this year's community service event? Tired of organizing volunteer days? Let us help! Our middle and high school business competitions allow companies to engage their employees through an event that is exciting, impactful, and guaranteed to bring your team together!

What We Offer

Organized Community Service Day – SuitUp will organize a one-day business competition at a school in New York City, where your employees coach student teams and compete for a prize.

Exciting Content – Your employees will help students solve a real problem for a real company, like designing a new shoe for Nike.

Engaged Employees – 95% of our volunteers request to participate in SuitUp again, and more than 80% request to get more involved in education.

Meaningful Impact – Your employees will increase career awareness for a group of students, and teach them important life skills such as problem solving, teamwork and public speaking.

No Pre-Work – There is no pre-work required for your employees to be effective volunteers. All they need to do is show up.

Corporate Experience – SuitUp specializes in hosting events for corporations, from Fortune 500 companies to startups, including UBS, Ares Management, PIMCO and many others.

Customizable Events – No matter the size of your company, budget or location, SuitUp can be customized to fit your needs.

Brand Affinity – We can create a SuitUp competition that solves a problem for your company, engaging students and employees around your brand.

What We Ask For

All we ask from our partners is to help cover the cost of the event through a small donation to SuitUp, and show up to the event!

That's it! Seriously.