Selection Criteria for Nevada Water Resource Association’s Lifetime Achievement Award

Previous NWRA Board of Directors have had discussions on selection of Lifetime Achievement Award Recipients. In 2006 there was significant discussion by the Board on what the criteria selection should be and resulted in the informal adoption of the following selection criteria:

- Candidates must have contributed a significant portion of their career to Nevada's water resources.
- Preferred that the candidate was either a member of NWRA during their career, or
- Participated in NWRA events, but it is not a requirement
- Candidate can be retired from a water resources career, and can be working in another position/occupation after their retirement from a lifetime career in the field of water resources.
- This is not a posthumous award.

The selection of the recipient has always been by the NWRA Board of Directors and not the general membership. To keep the announcement confidential until the Annual Conference, the portion of the Board Meeting where recipient is selected is OFF the record and NOT included in the meeting minutes.
