

We get to go to work.

We get to raise our children.

We get to take out the trash, evidence of abundance.

We get to chop these vegetables, evidence of nourishment.

We get to rush out the door, late and frenzied, with the diaper bag spilling and phone ringing, evidence of life abuzz all around us.

— Erin Loechner