Ensure a bright future for your disabled loved one.

A Partnership of Al Sigl Center and LIFESPAN

Don't leave your disabled loved one's future to chance.

These days, people with disabilities are living better — and longer — than ever before.

While we celebrate this trend, the troubling implication is that many people with disabilities will outlive their primary caregiver.

For those with disabilities, losing a caregiver can be devastating. Especially if they're thrown into an unfamiliar living situation. With their security undermined and every aspect of their daily routine undone, they can feel completely abandoned.

But there is an alternative that can help minimize this impact: Future Care Planning Services.

Plan today to ensure a better tomorrow.

Future Care Planning Services was created to ensure that your loved one will always be cared for according to your wishes.

We will work with you to identify options for every aspect of your loved one's future — where they will live, who their legal guardian will be, who will make decisions about their health care, how your loved one's expenses will be paid, and other factors that will contribute to their overall quality of life.

Our staff will guide you in obtaining the legal documents you'll need to guarantee that the decisions you've made will be carried out. These include:

- Letter of Intent
- Guardianship
- Health Care Proxy
- Living Will
- Power of Attorney
- Representative Payee
- Supplemental Needs Trust

Choose the setting that best meets your needs.

The Future Care Planning Services staff are compassionate and supportive advocates who recognize how difficult these decisions are. Not only are they there to provide you with sound, unbiased advice, they're there to listen too.

In planning for your loved one's future, you can:

1. Choose to meet individually with one of our staff to develop an individual plan, detailing decisions and options for the future of your loved one.

2. Choose to participate in one of our four-part Planning Seminars. Here, proactive families can learn more about making educated and timely planning decisions for their disabled loved ones.

To schedule an appointment, or for details about upcoming seminars, contact Future Care Planning Services at (585) 340-5883 or visit our Web site at www.futurecareplanning.org.
