Addressing the reality of bullying that plagues our schools.

Simple answers aren't good enough anymore. We must get to the root of this ever-present problem. Bullying doesn't just threaten our safety, it challenges our sense of self and hope for the future. Through storytelling and a heart for both the bullied and bully, Johan unpacks this issue by leading us towards compassion beyond the simplistic, "don't do it" message.

We must veer from the monstrous cycle of revenge and move into the compassionate stance that keeps us human.
