

Jack Thomas Associate Consultant

Jack joined the FutureSense team in March of 2016 as an Associate Consultant specializing in the area of compensation.

He earned a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts from Thomas Aquinas College; a school that focuses on learning utilizing the Socratic method and the Great Books. Thomas Aquinas College has a heavy emphasis on philosophy, theology, critical thinking and communication. Jack's passion for the finer things in life led him to pursue a career working for a local Orange brewery. He worked as the primary salesman and brewery representative for all of Orange County.

Jack then left the brewery to learn more of the administration and operations of a business by becoming a Community Manager at Regus Management Group. Here Jack found an amazing opportunity to grow his network, gain valuable work and life skills, and manage a Regus center in Carlsbad.

Jack resides in Orange County with his wife Rachel and daughter Evangeline. He is an Eagle Scout of the Boy Scouts, an avid reader, amateur photographer, journeyman philosopher and enjoys playing soccer. He loves to camp, hike, and cook.

Jack focuses his strengths by helping clients with their unique challenges and goals to find solutions that effectively and efficiently make a positive impact on their business. Jack is confident that his skills in compensation, project management, organizational development, communication, critical thinking, and change management will allow him to excel and be a valuable asset to his clients.

Let me not then die ingloriously and without a struggle, but let me first do some great thing that shall be told among men
hereafter.
