

UOS Screenshot	Name	Description	Source
(00:32:00:04)	Email from Durland Fish (IDSA) to Barbara J. Johnson (CDC)	“This battle cannot be won on a scientific front. We need to mount a socio-political offensive, but we are outnumbered and outgunned. We need reinforcements from outside the field.”	Open Eye Pictures, Freedom of Information Act Request. Source
(00:32:24:09)	Email from Phil Baker (NIH) to Barbara J. Johnson (CDC)	“Thanks Barbara, I’ll certainly miss all of you people – the scientists – but not the Lyme loonies ...”	Open Eye Pictures, Freedom of Information Act request. Source
(00:32:28:06)	Paul G Auwaerter (Johns Hopkins University), Johan S. Bakken, Raymond J. Dattwyler, J. Stephen Dumler, John J. Halperin, Robert B. Nadelman, Eugene D. Shapiro, Allen C. Steere, Arthur Weinstein, Gary P. Wormser (IDSA), Edward McSweegan (NIH), Susan O’Connell, Sunil K. Sood	“medicine has endured an often justifiable degree of public scorn and suspicion for its many faults, including ignorance and ineffectiveness, elitism and exclusivity, unyielding dogma and fashionable quackery...”	“Antiscience and Ethical Concerns Associated with Advocacy of Lyme Disease” The Lancet Infectious Disease, September 2011. Source
(00:32:40:11)	Email from Edward McSweegan (NIG) to Paul Mead (CDC)	“And what we have here is a war. Actually, a disinformation war. An insurgency against evidence-based medicine. It’s time to start shooting back.”	Open Eye Pictures, Freedom of Information Act Request. Source