Prime plan to buy 6 hospitals being opposed by labor

Prime Healthcare, a troubled for-profit hospital chain seeking to buy six hospitals in California, has met opposition from California Attorney General Kamala Harris. Harris’ office has expressed concern about the sale, which is subject to approval by California’s Attorney General. The for-profit company also said it would spend $150 million on capital improvements over three years and preserve most of the hospitals’ 7,400 jobs. Prime said it would take over nearly $300 million in pension liabilities for current and retired employees and spend another $150 million on capital. A spokesman for the California attorney general’s office said the sale is subject to approval by Harris and it plans to air television ads urging Harris to reject the sale. Harris’ office said it would keep an open mind and evaluate the offers made by the hospitals’ management.

Opponents are vowing to fight the sale, which is subject to approval by California Attorney General Kamala Harris.

The Service Employees International Union has been attacking the rumored deal for weeks, saying Prime puts profits ahead of patient care. The union has recruited state lawmakers and community groups to oppose the sale and it plans to air television ads urging Harris to reject the sale.

The California attorney general’s office has approved two prior purchases by Prime and rejected two others.

SPEEDED up a factor in Pine Mountain accident

Speed reportedly played a role in a major injury accident on Mill Pineview Highway in Pine Mountain Club, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The CHP said the accident began when the rider was traveling at a high rate of speed, and撞上 a car.

The suspect was booked into Juvenile Hall for his involvement in the incident. He was not cited.
