3. Under the current rules, a staff member's marital status is determined by reference to the laws of the country of nationality of the staff member. Subject:  Amended definition of spouse – a further step towards equality among staff

Dear Colleagues,

The Human Resources Management Department (HRMD) is pleased to announce that a new Office Instruction on the Amendments to the Staff Regulations and Rules - Definition of "Spouse" has just been issued (Office Instruction No. 59/2014).

According to this Office Instruction, WIPO now determines a staff member's marital status by reference to the law of the competent authority under which the marriage or partnership has been established, instead of the laws applicable in the staff member's country of nationality.

This means, for example, that if a staff member marries a same-sex partner in a country where same-sex marriages are legal, that person will be recognized by WIPO as the staff member's spouse even if same-sex marriages are not recognized in the staff member's country of nationality.

This amendment is made to enhance equality among staff members of different nationalities and sexual orientations in support of the principle of non-discrimination. In making the change, WIPO joins the UN Secretariat and an increasing number of other entities in the UN common system that take the same approach in determining staff members' marital status.

Staff members wishing their spouse to be recognized for the purpose of the WIPO Staff Regulations and Rules should address a request to HRMD.

Please be reminded that the UN Joint Staff Pension Fund (UNJSPF) uses its own guidelines in determining eligibility for spousal benefits, the latest of which were shared with all staff on September 8, 2014.
