

Opening Act

(Written by Pamela McNeill)

So here I am - I'm the opening act
First runner-up but not the last one off the track
And I'm getting closer to that victory lap
And someday you'll know who I am
But not tonight 'cause I'm the opening act.

We get a lot less money and the smaller deli-tray
Not much of a sound check
We get to hang in an alleyway
My band must really love me
'cause they play almost for free Just a little gas money and a never dying dream Yeah, I'm the opening act now in case you came in late
But don't get too bummed out
I'll be outta here by eight, yeah...
