FROM THE PRESIDENT:

Summer has, in its way, come to Duluth. Inevitably, the rhythm of life changes: weekends, if not weeks, at the cabin; children off to camp; vacations and vacation travel; etc., etc.

What doesn't change is that Temple remains. We'll still have services every Friday evening and Saturday morning; Torah study will continue; the office will still be open Tuesday through Friday. And, before you know it, the planning for the High Holy Days will get seriously under way. Feel free to drop in now and again for services or Torah study. A bit of Sabbath contemplation is a great way to slow things down, take a breath, feel some comfort, and appreciate the world from a non-materialistic perspective.

If tradition is any guide – and you know how important tradition is to Jews (it's what keeps the fiddler on the roof, after all) – many of you will just return to Temple for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. I am so looking forward to seeing you. In the meantime, have a wonderful, fulfilling and safe Summer.

-- Mark Weitz

FROM THE RABBI'S STUDY:

July-August 2022/ Tammuz-Av-Elul 5782

I must admit I'm a bit stumped as I try to compose an article for the July-August bulletin this year.

I don't feel like writing about the ongoing Covid pandemic and our responses to it. (In short --- live your life but be prudent and get vaccinated and boosted).

I don't feel like writing about the January 6th hearings taking place right now (In short – we should all be very concerned about how precarious are our democratic institutions.)

I don't feel like writing about the collapse of the latest Israeli government coalition. (In short – Palestinians need a state and Israelis need security – and neither side needs violent religious fanaticism.)

I don't feel like writing about the war in Ukraine. (In short – Putin needs to be stopped.)

I don't feel like writing about racism, or antisemitism, or homophobia, or transphobia, or hate in general. (In short – every person is created “btzelem Elohim”/ “in the Divine image” – and we need to treat everyone accordingly. Why is that so difficult?)

I don't feel like writing about gun violence. (In short – there are too many guns in the hands of people who should not have them.)

I don't feel like writing about the history of Tisha B'Av – the anniversary of the destruction of the First and Second Temples, which falls during the summer months and which I've written about in several of my July-August bulletin articles in recent years. (In short – here is more info on that topic for those who are interested.)

What do I want to write about?

How blessed we are to live in this beautiful part of the world, and to be part of this welcoming Jewish community, and to wake up each day with new opportunities for giving and receiving love and friendship. And for (in the words of the siddur) – “Your miracles that we experience every day and for Your wondrous deeds and favors at every time of day: evening, morning and noon.”[1]

I hope everyone (including me!) has a restful and rejuvenating summer even as we start preparing for the High Holidays and beyond. (In short – watch your mailboxes in August for your Temple Israel Fall Holidays information packet --- and thank you to everyone on our staff and to our lay leaders and to everyone who volunteers and takes part in all facets of our congregational life!)

L'shalom,
Rabbi David Steinberg

NOTES FROM THE BOARD

Since this is the last Bulletin for a couple of months, here's a roundup of some of what's happened recently and going to happen in the future at Temple Israel:

Board actions:

High Holy Days - The Board authorized Rabbi David to begin planning towards in-person High Holiday services this year - of course, if the COVID situation changes, we can change this decision as well.

Changed Mask Policy - The Board instituted a change in our mask policy: Masks will continue to be optional at Temple events, except mandatory when attendance is expected to be 50 or more, a call made by the Executive Committee. Mask mandates will be announced before the event. We anticipate that in the near future, this will affect only the High Holy days, and possibly one other event.

Fundraisers and Volunteer opportunities:

Art and Judaica auction fundraiser - On July 24th the Overman room will hopefully be filled with people who want to bid on Judaica items formerly belonging to Cindy Ornstein and Dan King, literally hundreds of items. The auction will be publicized in the Twin Cities as well as locally. VOLUNTEERS will be needed on Saturday, July 23rd after services, and Sunday July 24th starting at 9:30 am to help set up the merch.

Temple Security:

Upgrades - Have you used the 16th Street door lately? It now has reinforced bullet-resistant glass to strengthen security against intruders. We have also signed a contract to add more cameras and monitors to track suspicious activity around the building.

Tikkun Olam:

Address homelessness - CHUM, of which we are an active partner, is a participating organization in a 5 year initiative to address homelessness in our area, called Stepping On Up. Learn more about this plan and how you can help at steppingonupduluth.org.

Program heads-up:

Silver Memorial Lecture - This is farther out, but BIG; reserve the date now. The speaker will be Sarah Hurwitz, Michelle Obama's former head speechwriter and author of the blockbuster book, Here All Along: Finding Meaning, Spirituality, and a Deeper Connection to Life—in Judaism (After Finally Choosing to Look There). I've read it - it's one of those books you want to give to all your friends. So, I encourage you, my friends - read it, and you will be excited to come to hear her in person. At Temple, 7:00 November 16.

At and around Temple

Baby namings - we were blessed to name two babies in May - daughters of members Mikkell and Jessica Haas (Charlotte), and Andrea and Hunter Chartier (Meredith). Nachus squared!

Last but not least - My most recent personal Temple Israel highlight was the "almost sunrise" Shavuot service at Lake Superior (Park Point). Although I grumbled mightily at having to wake at 5:15 am for a 6:00 service, the experience of singing creation's/G-d's worship and praises on the shore of our great Lake, was one of wonderment and exultation. The communal breakfast hosted by Tom Griggs afterwards added to the ruach (spirit) of the event.

A safe and happy July and August to all.

NEWS FROM RELIGIOUS & HEBREW SCHOOLS

Let's take a moment to drink in Shabbat.

When Tom and I officially joined the Temple Israel community, Rabbi Amy Bernstein gifted us with a two ceramic mugs: one embellished with a dove and olive branch, the other with a star of David. We adopted these as our Shabbat mugs, drinking hot coffee and hot chocolate out of them together on Saturday mornings.

On a trip to visit my mom in West Virginia that summer, we also chose a couple of beautifully cut wine glasses from the Fostoria Museum. My mother, who grew up in the town where Fostoria was made and has a sideboard full of it, cringed at the price we paid. But we were happy with our special glasses with which to welcome in Shabbat.

Later, when the ceramic mugs chipped and one of the wine glasses broke, we replaced them. For many years we drank our hot coffee and hot cappuccino on Shabbat mornings out of Dr. Who themed mugs. One sports Vincent Van Gogh's The Starry Night and Café Terrace at Night each with a tiny TARDIS added to the scene. The other shows the doors of a police call box with TARDIS defined on back.

If you read the last few paragraphs carefully you will have noticed that someone's morning beverage preference has been evolving. When my better half complained, while at the Park Point Art Fair, that now that I drink iced coffee on Shabbat mornings our cups no longer complemented each other, we decided to remedy that.

After a swift tour of all the ceramics booths, we settled on these.

We'll keep Dr. Who on reserve though for the dark and cold of winter. And for anyone left wondering, it's Time And Relative Dimension In Space.

High Holiday Choir Slated to Return for 5783/2022 High Holidays

At its June 2022 meeting, the Temple Israel Board approved the return of the High Holiday Choir for in-person High Holiday services. Of course, the occurrence of any major new Covid-19 wave between now and then might alter these plans. However, the plan for now is to resume choir rehearsals in August.

A new choir director has stepped forward! Temple Israel member, Sam Black will be directing the choir this year.

If are interested in singing in the Temple choir for the High Holidays, please email Rabbi David rabbidavid@jewishduluth.org to let him know. We welcome both new and returning singers (and we want to update our Temple choir email list).

Rehearsals will start in August on Saturdays following the Temple's weekly Shabbat Kiddush lunch (to which you are invited even if you didn't attend services earlier in the morning). We may also add on occasional weekday afternoon rehearsal if needed.

THE HIGH HOLIDAYS WILL BE HERE BEFORE YOU KNOW IT!

(Rosh Hashanah begins at sundown on Sunday, September 25th)

Rabbi David has already begun the process of planning for our High Holiday services. If you would like to have an honor during any of the services (for example, doing an English reading or having a role in any of the Torah services), please feel free and encouraged to contact Rabbi David directly so that he can find a role for you. So long as public health conditions permit, we plan to be in person for all services.

SHABBAT IN THE PARK

August 5th, 2022

Family Service will be held at

Bring a vegetarian dairy dish and an outdoor game to share. Temple Israel will provide drinks and vegetarian options for the grill. We're looking for a volunteer or two to operate the grill. Please contact the office to volunteer. Thanks!

(Thank you to Temple Member and Superior, WI resident Deb Carroll for reserving the pavilion for our use!)

"SOUTH SHORE SHABBAT"

WISCONSIN ON AUGUST 19th

Our annual "South Shore Shabbat" service is returning this year! Join us on Friday, August 19th at the home of Temple members David and Kate Siegler, 700 Chapple Avenue, Ashland, Wisconsin. Our service begins at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by a potluck Shabbat dinner. Anyone interested in making the road trip from the Duluth/Superior area is also more than welcome to contact the Temple office if you'd like to carpool with others to Ashland, whether as a driver or as a passenger. There will be no Shabbat service that evening at Temple Israel in Duluth. However, those who are not joining us in person in Ashland will be able to join in virtually via our regular worship services Zoom link.

These dates diverge for several months in the spring and summer during years when 8th day of Passover or 2nd day of Shavuot (holidays not observed in Israel or in Reconstructionist or Reform Judaism) falls on Shabbat. (The Diaspora and Israel Torah reading cycles are back in sync again after July 30th.)
