

A Hell's Kitchen Gallery Tour

APRIL 21ST, 2017

Hell's Kitchen isn't known for its art galleries—but perhaps it should be. The galleries below certainly make a strong case.

EFA Project Space

323 W. 39th St., second floor (between Eighth and Ninth Avenues)

The gallery program of the nonprofit Elizabeth Foundation for the Arts, the EFA Project Space receives support from the National Endowment for the Arts, the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, and the Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts. Many of its multidiscipline exhibitions focus on the connections between art and the everyday. “Sick Time, Sleepy Time, Crip Time: Against Capitalism’s Temporal Bullying,” which runs through May 13th, is a case in point: Featuring works focusing on illness and wellness, “It proposes that better incorporation of the states of debility, disability, and rest into society (particularly their temporalities) could be resistive to forms of oppression and provide possibilities for rethinking collectivity.”

Fountain House Gallery

702 Ninth Ave. (between 48th and 49th Streets)
