

LibCrawlr Update: New Questions Added

Based on user testing we added 2 questions to the Downtown LibCrawlr and 5 to Evansdale. We used the same questions at each location when possible. We added information about the other library to each location. At Evansdale we included multimedia services and Downtown we added the 24/5 hours available at Evansdale.

To make the points and grading scale equivalent at both library locations, all Evansdale questions are worth 10 points (the default). There are 15 questions in the Evansdale game. It is a smaller library and moving around the building takes less time. Because we increased the total scale, the wrong answer penalty is now 5 instead of 3.

At the Downtown Library, we have 13 questions. The score totaled 130 points with the ten point default. We added 20 points to even up the scale as indicated in the list of questions below.

The West Virginia Center was happy to be included. To allow students to complete the game when the Center is not open, we provided an option to take a selfie next to the large wooded sign outside the center. Students that play when they are open are asked to sign in, visit and exhibit, and take a selfie there.

Scoring:

Questions set at a value of 10 points, with a 3 point deduction for a wrong answer. Students can get several questions wrong and still be in the “A” range.
