The Best Way to Experience Music Today
Tired of the bar scene where you can’t hear the music you paid a cover for? Is a special birthday, anniversary, or other occasion coming up that needs something more than a typical party at your house?

Join the movement that is supporting independent musicians and providing awesome memories for hosts and fans across the country: House Concerts!

The daughter of a Dust Bowl immigrant, Carter Robertson was born in Central California, and raised in the opposing worlds of her mother’s rural church culture and her father’s tendency to walk on the wild side. During the Outlaw Country years she, along with husband, Grammy award winning producer/keyboardist Barny Robertson, backed up Waylon Jennings and Jessi Colter both on the road and in the studio.

Carter recorded over 17 albums with Waylon and Jessi, and her voice can be heard on songs such as "Ain't Livin" Long," "Luckenbach Texas" and "Are You Ready for the Country.” Her recording credits include Willie Nelson, Kris Kristofferson, James Taylor, and many others. Carter and Barny perform house concerts around the country traveling from Nashville, where they and much of their musical family currently live.

Their live show features original songs as well as country classics from Hank Williams, Bob Wills, Willie Nelson, and Waylon and more along with stories from Carter’s memoir, Playin’ on the Tracks.

“Very seldom does one get to experience the view from inside the circle around a superstar artist… Recollections of her years as part of Country music’s famed Outlaw movement with none other than Waylon Jennings are told with candor, grace and conviction.” John Zarling, VP/Promotion and Media Strategy-Big Machine Label Group

“This is a ‘must see to believe’ modern day fairy tale. Don’t miss this combination of musical genius with a story to tell.” Jessi Colter, recording artist and songwriter
