LEVERAGING FTA BENEFITS IN ASIA:
Increasing Certainty and Lowering Risk in Your Supply Chain.

Increasing economic uncertainty caused by a slowdown in China’s economy, the ongoing US-China trade war and the spread of the coronavirus have disrupted global supply chain networks. Such quickly changing market signals have put enormous pressure on margins, leaving companies with sub-optimal networks and trading partners, and making firms more vulnerable to further disruptions and market fluctuations.

In response, companies have begun shifting manufacturing out of China or at least diversifying production channels and redrawing their supply chains.

The savviest firms are also looking to leverage benefits from hundreds of overlapping FTA duty and tax reduction benefits that can amount to millions of dollars in annual savings. Moreover, consistent tariffs and rules across FTA partners can bring certainty and lower risks for regional supply chain.

Now is the perfect opportunity for firms to assess their production processes and build a resilient supply chain capable of resisting, absorbing, recovering and adapting in an increasingly complex economic and regulatory environment. Firms that respond proactively create opportunities to improve their bottom line, increase their market share and capture a larger share of industry profit.

The Asian Trade Centre’s Corporate Advisory Services ensure our client’s supply chain and trade compliance processes are designed to optimize existing FTA benefits and mitigate the consequences of political, economic and regulatory uncertainty.
