PROJECT HIGHLIGHTS

STILL SOPHIE & THE REEMPRISE FUND, 2016

Caroline was the grant recipient of $5,000 from The Reemprise Fund which invests in student filmmakers to produce innovative projects for non-profit organizations. Caroline directed a short documentary about young talent Sophie Salveson who, because of a severe stroke, lives with “aphasia” which greatly limits her ability to speak, write, and walk, yet somehow she has retained her ability to sing.

Official Selection: Red Dirt Film Festival, Vail Film Festival, River Bend Film Festival, Columbus Intl Film Festival, Nashville Film Festival, Newport Beach Film Festival, Emerge Film Festival

Best Documentary – Red Dirt Film Festival

VISIONARY, 2015

Visionary is Caroline’s first short documentary made for a non-fiction filmmaking course at UT. The film is about a blind woman named Sue Buckley who founded one of the most successful blind-mentoring programs in the southeast. How she did it? Tandem bicycling.

Official Selection: Nashville Film Festival, Filmslang, Bicycle Film Festival, Knoxville Film Festival

Spirit of Americans With Disabilities: Advocacy Award

Audience Choice (nominee) – Nashville Film Festival

Best Documentary – College Media Association

HUMANS OF UTK, 2014-16

Caroline created and managed a photo blog for 2 years based on Humans of New York for her own college campus at UT. With over 4,500 followers and growing, HOUTK requires timeliness of posts, diligent social media skills and ability to invite intimate conversation and interaction with complete strangers.
