BRIDGE BEAM FOR BELFAST—Prefabricated at the South Portland plant of Bancroft and Martin Rolling Mills Company, this huge beam is one of 42 now journeying by rail to Belfast for construction of a new highway bridge. This beam, nearly 100 feet long, made the trip on two flat cars.

Waterville, MeC
Plan Centennial

Events Oct. 27-29

A three-day celebration marking the centennial of the Maine Central Railroad will be held in Waterville, site of the founding, in October.

Tentatively outlined to include a parade, formal presentation of the Maine Central's last steam locomotive to the City, a full-scale open house at the Waterville Shops and a Centennial dinner, the event is being planned by the Railroad and a committee of Waterville business and civic leaders headed by Mayor Cyril M. Joly, Jr.

The observance will be held Oct. 27-29, with the Shops open house scheduled all three days and the parade, presentation and dinner on Monday, Oct. 29.

The Maine Central was organized in Waterville Oct. 23, 1862, with agreements joining the Penobscot and Kennebec and the Androscoggin and Kennebec Railroads signed in a small building which then served as the railroad shops. Old maps indicate this structure stood on the site of the old YMCA, near the present freight office and station.

Mayor Joly's committee includes Dr. John F. Reynolds, president of the Waterville Area Chamber of Commerce; Dean Ernest C. Marriner, Colby College; Howard Gray, manager, Waterville Sentinel; Carleton D. Brown, president, Kennebec Broadcasting Co.; Dr. Robert L. Strider, president, Colby College; Ralph H. Cutting, president, Keyes Fibre Co.; John McGowan, vice president, Wyandotte Worsted Co.

George Blessing, general manager, Scott Paper Co.; Kenneth Tipper, president, Cascade Woolen Mill; Willard B. Arnold, Sr., president and treasurer, W. B. Arnold Co.; Ellerton Jette, chairman, C. F. Hathaway Co.; Frederick Knauff, president, Federal Trust Co.; Buford Grant, superintendent of schools; Coleman MacKay, council president.

Four Promoted in Maine Central Operating Department

Four promotions were announced by the Maine Central Operating Department early in May.

Ansel N. Tupper, who has been serving as superintendent of the Maine Central since November, 1960, was named General Superintendent.

John E. Hamilton, Assistant to the Director of Personnel for the same period, was named Supervisor of Schedules.

A. C. P. Lennon, who has been serving as Trainmaster at Portland, was named Assistant Superintendent.

J. Edmund Bouchard, Trainmaster at Bangor, was named Assistant Superintendent at Bangor.

Tupper, son of the late Harold F. Tupper, Boston and Maine Portland Division Engineer for many years, joined the Maine Central in 1953 as student track supervisor at Waterville. He was promoted to the post of assistant trainmaster at Portland in 1954, and trainmaster at Waterville in 1955. He became trainmaster at Portland in 1956, and was appointed superintendent in 1960. Tupper, his wife and three sons reside at 28 Frederick road, South Portland.

Hamilton joined the Maine Central as student supervisor of schedules in 1956 after graduation from the Boston College School of Law, having completed his legal education while working as a foreman in the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. warehouses in Boston, his native city. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton and their four youngsters live at 23 Larchwood road, South Portland.

TO MY FELLOW EMPLOYEES:

In April, I delivered a brief talk to the stockholders of the Maine Central Railroad Company at the Annual Meeting. I feel the message I delivered to the stockholders should be shared with the employees. The report is as important to you as it was to them, and accordingly I have devoted this month's Messenger column to this material.

All of you are aware from the reading of the 1961 Annual Report that Maine Central in common with other eastern rail carriers has experienced one of the most difficult years in history. It is small satisfaction to your management to have achieved a better return on investment than railroads nationally, since our return amounted to the very inadequate percentage of 2.62. The chief reason for this poor showing was a decline in freight revenue brought about through a decline in tonnage and a reduction in freight rates in order to hold present business in certain areas and to attract new business. The decline in this area in dollars amounted to over three-quarters of a million dollars and this was impossible to offset.

I have had many questions directed to the wisdom of the railroad's management in eliminating passenger trains. The public interest angle was ably covered by a Portland Sunday Telegram editorial of April 15th, in which the newspaper commented on the cessation of railroad passenger service and prospective curtailment of airplane passenger service in Maine. The editorial stated: "The public doesn't care. Most people today do most of their traveling by auto. It has been estimated that autos provide 95 percent of all travel in the nation. This means that the mass transportation agencies are competing for only five percent." The paper's statement is supported by the fact that in 1960 our trains averaged only 20.3 passengers per trip, a mere fraction of a busload.

There is no doubt about the economic facts, for we have carried out exhaustive studies aimed at showing where we would be with our present freight revenue if passenger trains as operated in the last full year of operation had been continued.

The figures show that assuming freight revenue and profit of 1961 and passenger deficit of 1959 the Maine Central would have suffered the dangerous loss of $437,000 instead of a profit of more than one-half million dollars. The figures also show, and this is most interesting, that if our freight volume of 1961 and our profit on freight in 1961 had been those of 1959, we would have had a net income of $1,878,000 (less an assumed extra income tax of $500,000) or $1,378,000 instead of the $300,000 figure. These statistics indicate two important conclusions; the first is that the Company would be heading fast for insolvency if passenger train service had been continued and the second and interesting one for us is that the Company has a tremendous future if freight revenue profit from freight operations can be built up back to the level of previous years.

Going back to 1957, for instance, and using the same basis of profit for freight operations for that year and 1961 deficit on passenger service, namely, mail-merchandise trains, we would have a net income after all charges of $3,750,000 (less an assumed extra income tax of $1,350,000) or $2,400,000 which would produce a net of $20 per share before preferred dividend and sinking fund requirements.

The lesson for management is exceedingly clear. We simply have to remove from the highway and put on rails this extra volume of business and our every effort is being bent in that direction. We shall be tremendously helped if President Kennedy's program goes through and a realistic user charge basis is assessed to truckmen, while railroads, and particularly the Maine Central, have freedom to make realistic rates without suspension. But even without this help we know where there are large areas of freight to be obtained and we are concentrating our efforts in those fields.

It would be entirely too optimistic to think we can get back in the next two or three years to the high area of net earnings above indicated even with a substantial increase in new freight business. One reason is that the trend of transportation is changing and we will have to spend large sums from operating and capital funds to provide new and novel equipment to do the job and in some areas we will have to reduce rates.

There is one very troublesome situation on the Maine Central, deeply disturbing to its management and fraught with great public interest and that involves our operations between Ayers Junction and Eastport, serving Lubec via water and the Passamaquoddy Ferry & Navigation Company. Mention of this area will immediately call to mind the great stake and tremendous interest which people of Washington County, of Maine and all of New England have in the potential power development at Passamaquoddy. From the time that studies were put in motion by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to now, Maine Central has done everything possible to promote the development of Passamaquoddy and has never given up hope that accomplishment through a beginning of construction was around the corner. Our stockholders have made very serious financial sacrifices to keep the possibility alive through a rail link to the area. In 1960 we operated the Eastport Branch at a loss of $78,463 using accounting procedures sanctioned by the ICC in abandonment proceedings. In 1961 due to a tight control of expenses this loss was reduced to $53,327. But all of you are now aware that the sustaining industry, namely, the cat food plant of Quaker Oats, will close its doors for good in this year and the loss of that traffic will plunge us into an annual deficit on this little branch alone of $117,000.

Maine Central which as you have been told earned a return on its investment of 2.62% last year cannot continue to bear this burden and make the sacrifice indefinitely.

The reasons for my remarks are two-fold; first, to inform our stockholders and secondly to inform the public, and related to the latter, to exhort the public and particularly shippers of the Eastport area to favor Maine Central with their traffic over all highway and railroad competitors if we are to be expected to continue operation of the tracks to Eastport.

In this discussion I have tried to give you the sunshine and the shadow and there is plenty of both in our picture but from where I sit, this Company appears to have great potential and with intelligent farsightedness and a will to do the novel or whatever it takes to give shippers better service at lower costs, a bright future is insured for the Company's stockholders and employees.
Teachers Guests of Railroad
For Business-Education Tour

BUSINESS-EDUCATION DAY LUNCHEON—Several Greater Portland high school teachers toured the General Offices and other Portland railroad facilities early in May in the Maine Central's observance of Business-Education Day. Shown at luncheon in the directors' room, seated, left to right, Joseph H. Cobb, director of public relations; James W. Wiggins, chief engineer; Frederick LaFaye, South Portland High; Roy E. Baker, general manager; Joseph McDonnell, Portland High; E. Spencer Miller, president; Arthur Smith, Deering High; H. M. Rainio, vice president, purchases and stores; John Ham, Deering High; and Willard E. Pierce, assistant general manager. Standing, Richard Halpin, Falmouth High; George Hutchinson, South Portland High; Mervin Rowe, Portland High; H. N. Foster, treasurer and comptroller; A. M. Knowles, general counsel; Weston Dyer, Scarborough High; Willard Carswell, South Portland High; and R. C. Merrow, freight traffic manager.

Ten greater Portland high school teachers were guests of the Maine Central and Portland Terminal Companies early in May for the annual Business-Education Day sponsored by the Greater Portland Chamber of Commerce.

The day's program opened with an introduction and briefing in the directors' room, when the guests were welcomed by President E. Spencer Miller and briefed on the day's program by Joseph H. Cobb, director of public relations. Treasurer and Comptroller Horace N. Foster spoke to the group on the functions and responsibilities of the Accounting Department, and using the 1961 Annual Report, outlined the Company's financial condition and prospects.

The day-long tour began with a visit to the Data Processing department, with Ralph Gordon, auditor, data processing, and systems manager, explaining the duties of his personnel and use of the new Univac computer.

Carl W. Bruns
Ends MeC Service

Carl W. Bruns, chief clerk to the General Manager and Assistant General Manager, retired April 30 after nearly 45 years of Maine Central service.

Fellow employees gathered in the Conference Room in the General Offices to honor him on his final day, and General Manager Roy E. Baker presented a retirement gift.

A native of Portland, Bruns joined the Maine Central in November, 1917, as a clerk in the accounting department. He was transferred to the Operating Department in 1931 as a mail clerk, and was promoted to the chief clerk's post in 1955.

Bruns, who lives with wife Hazel at 433 Westbrook street, Portland, is looking forward to his retirement years. "I'll have lots of time," he says, "for trout fishing."

Carl W. Bruns Retires—Carl W. Bruns, who retired in April, is shown as he was presented a gift from fellow workers by General Manager Roy E. Baker, left, and Assistant General Manager Willard E. Pierce. The presentation took place as Bruns was honored by fellow employees on his final day of work.

$1,000 for Perfect Shipping Slogan

Some Maine Central roadrailer—maybe it’s you—may win $1,000.

The money, provided by the American Railway Magazine Editors’ Association, will go to the railroad worker who comes up with the best slogan for the current Freight Loss and Damage prevention program now being conducted on railroads throughout the nation.

This is the K.F.O.R. campaign, on which the Messenger, along with Railroad employees’ publications across the land, has based several articles and cartoons, and on which rests the hopes of the railroads that costly, unnecessary freight damage claims may be sharply reduced.

K.F.O.R., of course, stands for “Keep Freight On The Rails.” It won’t stay on the rails, needless to say, if shippers and consignees are unable to depend on its intact arrival. It’s our job to “Keep Freight On the Rails,” and K.F.O.R. helps us do it.

Suggested slogans may be submitted to the Loss and Damage Prevention Committee, American Railway Magazine Editors’ Assn., care of the Association of American Railroads, transportation building, Washington, D.C.

‘PUNCHERS’ WIN

WOMEN’S BOWLING

BY ERNESTINE MILLER

The Maine Central Women’s Bowling League finished their season with a “bang” at their annual banquet at “The Paddock,” Prides Corner, Westbrook, on Wednesday, April 25.

Top honors went to Bea Crawford’s Punchers, consisting of Bea as captain, Peggy Dorsey, “Gee-Gee” Gilman, and Mary Donahue. Mrs. Crawford also took the award for high three. Hazel Davison came out with high average and the most strikes during the year. Mary Ann Berry won the award for the high single. A special award went to Carmel Robichaud, for her 104 string, on an under 80 average.

Second place team was the “Switchers,” captained by Jan Calder, with members Barbara Luce, Mary Berry, and Beryl Farrar. Third place was won by the “Locos,” with Theresa Slattery as captain, and Carmel Robichaud, Nancy Gillis, and Hazel Wallace as her helpers.

The “Deraliers,” (Captain Hazel Davison, members Ernestine Miller, Dolly Gears, Mary Nugent) started the season at the top, but ended up in fourth place.

The “Sidecars”, Captain Lil Grenier, and members Nancy Gilbert, Dot Conley, Jennie Joyce, were the fifth place winners.

Stewart Park, Jr.
Joins MeC Family

Stewart Park, Jr., 25, of Enola, Penna., a former Pennsylvania Railroad motive power supervisor, has been named assistant mechanical engineer for the Maine Central Railroad. He assumed his new duties at Portland in April.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Park was educated in Mamaroneck, N.Y. public schools and Columbia University, where he was awarded his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1956 and his Bachelor of Science in mechanical engineering in 1958. Both degrees were earned while employed as a junior engineer in the PRR maintenance of equipment department.

Since 1958, Park has served as pipe fitter gang foreman and assistant engine house foreman for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Cote, Ryder Named
Traffic Assistants

Appointment of Royden M. Cote and Forest C. Ryder as Traffic Assistants was announced by Freight Traffic Manager R. C. Merrow in April.

Cote, who has been chief rate clerk, will report to Merton C. Olsen, assistant sales manager, while Ryder, also a rate clerk, will report to John M. Shaw, general freight agent.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Trowel Club will be held Wednesday evening, May 23, 1962, at 6:30 p.m., at the Maine Vocational Technical Institute, South Portland.

A roast beef dinner will be served by students of Culinary Art 11, under the supervision of Mr. O. Brisse, instructor.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company will show a slide presentation on space communications, and a Judo Team from the YMCA will give an exhibition.

TROWEL CLUB SETS
ANNUAL MEETING DATE

MARY'S MOPPETS—This is what it looks like when Mary Tabbutt, car accounting department stenographer, says "all ashore" after one of her junkets to the park or beach with the youngsters of the Summit street neighborhood. It's been going on for years, and it's a safe bet that if these kids could vote, Mary and her husband Milton would win a neighborhood popularity contest hands down.

Summit street, Portland, is a typical suburban neighborhood. There are bridge clubs and baby carriages, milk trucks and mortgages . . . station wagons, coffee kettles and dozenclops of kids.

But in one way, Summit street is a little different. On Saturdays, when school's out, and when the natural inclinations of 2 to 6-year-olds break the sound barrier occasionally in other neighborhoods, it's quieter on Summit street.

That's because of Mary and Milton Tabbutt, who for the past five years have made it a regular thing to entertain other people's small fry on weekends. This is looked upon with favor not only by the youngsters, but by their parents as well.

For the latter, it means relative serenity in their own households, and for the former, junkets to the Oaks in Portland, to Scarborough Beach, to Forest Lake, to the movies, or to Wason's for an orgy of ice cream.

Mary, a car accounting department stenographer who has been employed by the Maine Central Transportation Co. and Maine Central Railroad for the past dozen years, says the group includes from 12 to 15, usually, with the biggest delegation on Sunday, when husband Milton helps out.

But it's all Mary's welcome task on Saturdays, and they are all there and waiting when she returns from taking Milt to work. For the kids and for the Tabbuts—Saturday and Sunday are the biggest days of the week.
Mary Jo Sawyer Wins Top Cathedral Honor

Miss Sawyer

Mary Jo Sawyer, daughter of Maine Central Auditor Revenue Clerk and Mrs. Henry Sawyer, has been named Valedictorian of the Cathedral High School class of 1962 with a 95.112 average for her four years.

She is editor-in-chief of the yearbook, president of the National Honor Society, vice president of the student council, a member of the French, Math and Speech Clubs, and holds a certificate for excellence in Latin. She also is a member of the Latin Honor Society. Her junior year she was a delegate to Dirigo Girls' State.

Miss Sawyer will study nursing at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, Mass.

GENERAL OFFICES

Tom Hayes of the Purchasing Department is driving a 1962 black Ford Station Wagon. Earl Russell of the same department has a 1962 blue Chevrolet Belair. "Bonny" John Murray, building supervisor, gives a big "Thank You" to John Blodeau of the mail room for his help in painting and spring-cleaning his home.

Virginia Lee, formerly of Data Processing, visited the office on April 20. Virginia is now living and working in Connecticut.

Marie O'Connor will start maternity leave on May 25, awaiting the arrival of her third child. Cornel Robichaud, who has been furloughed, is expected to return at the end of May.

Barbara and Leo Gunn were guests of the Eastland Motor Hotel on April 29, the occasion being the testimonial dinner given in honor of Leo Gunn, Sr., in recognition of his 35 years service with the hotel. Mr. Gunn is now manager of the Portland Country Club.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davison (the former Hazel Varney of Data Processing) on their marriage April 18 in Portland. Mrs. Davison wore a light blue dress, with red roses, and was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Jean Jellison. Mr. Davison's brother, Henry, was his best man. Hazel and Leo took a wedding trip through New Hampshire.

Bob Nurse of Car Accounting and Statistics is impatiently awaiting the arrival of decent weather so he can try out his new fourteen-foot boat at some of the nearby lakes.

Ernestine and Stephen Miller spent two wonderful days in Bangor at the Republican State Convention. It's always nice seeing old friends, greeting new ones, and visiting with some of the congenial railroad folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Paine, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bird have returned from a winter's sojourn in Florida.

Blair Walls, supervisor employees group insurance, and wife Kay, basked in the sunny climate of Sarasota, Fla., for two weeks, while Maine was enduring 37° weather. They sure know how to pick the right vacation time.

John Gerity, assistant comptroller, was not as lucky in his choice of vacation dates—it was rainy and cold most of the time he was absent from the office.

New addition—a son born April 15 to Kay and Joe Galant—weighs 8 lbs. 15½ oz. at birth. He is Joseph E. Gallant, Jr. Joe Sr., is a clerk in Auditor Disbursements Office and Kay was formerly a machine operator in same office.

Leo Davis is having a brand new kitchen in his home.

Bob Rounds was one of the talented performers in the recent Caldwell Post Legion minstrel show at Frye Hall.

Mrs. and Fred Wilson of the Auditor Disbursements Office took advantage of the school vacation to take a motor trip.

Lillian Ayer, wife of yard Conductor Hump Ayer of Rumford, has been filling in on vacations at the freight house there.

Engineer Lawrence Furbish is thinking of trading cars again and the Fords have the lead.

Yardman Neudau of Livermore Falls has been retired for several years now and is enjoying life very much. He is in fine health and wishes to be remembered to all his friends.

Retired Agent Stanley Webster has returned to his home in Leeds Jct. after spending the winter in Florida. Wanted to plant peas the 25th of April but woke up to find several inches of snow on the ground.

Agent Roland Bonney of Leeds Junction took a week in April to plant his garden.

Agent Pete Tennyson took a week's vacation in the middle of April to move to his new home in Livermore Falls.

Portland Terminal Conductor Walter Allen and his wife have returned from South Bend, Indiana, after visiting their son who is a student at Notre Dame.

Many of the veterans of World War One who were attached to the 14th Railroad Engineers attended their annual banquet in Malden, Mass., May 5.

Returning to work after spending several weeks in Florida this winter is Portland Terminal Conductor Jimmy Riley. He came back too early as he has experienced several snow storms, much to his regret.

Retired Conductor Harold Card was presented a 30-year continuous membership pin and certificate of achievement in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Lodge 82, at their May meeting. He is also eligible to receive his pin in Masonry for the same number of years.

Agent Ernest Redmon of Danville Junction has taken his pension. He hasn't worked for several years at his job and now it is open for bid. Many applicants have been coming up to look over the position.

Retired Conductors Leonard King, George Larson and retired Yard Conductor Harold Clark of the Portland Terminal Co., attended a banquet with their wives of the Evangeline Lodge, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen Auxiliary. All are in good health and enjoyed the affair very much.

Sympathy is extended to retired Engineer Joe Malia on the recent death of his wife.

Trainman Harry Mulhern is looking forward to his vacation so he can get some fishing in Moosehead.

Sympathy is extended to Section Foreman Jim Tweedie of Livermore on the recent death of his father.
Members of the Maine Association of Railroad Veterans will meet Sunday, May 27, at Theodore's Restaurant, Portland. A film “Meet Your Neighbor,” will be shown by Leo L. Thibodeau, Great Northern Paper Co.

Sympathy is extended to the family of retired Yard Conductor Edward Hennessey of Brunswick, who died April 5.

Sympathy is extended to retired Railway Express Messenger Frank Kennedy on the death of his wife, April 15.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Patrick Noonan, who died April 16. He had retired from the Portland Terminal Company.

Mrs. Guy Sawtelle, wife of retired Engineer Sawtelle, was a patient at the Maine Medical Center, for medical observation.

Mrs. Morin, Mother of Trainman Emile Morin, was a recent patient at Mercy Hospital for Medical observation.

Retired Conductor Sam Skilling and Mrs. Skilling have returned to their home at Dover Foxcroft. They spent the winter in Waterville.

A total of 76 members attended a meeting of the Maine Association of Railroad Veterans at Theodore's Lobster House, Commercial Street, Portland, late in March.

Lin Wells, former coach at Bowdoin College, was the speaker. Members who won prizes donated by the ladies of the Association were Walter Stanton, Fred Jordan, Gladys Wansk, Weston E. Petrie and Norman Massengale.

WATERVILLE YARDS

Conductors Vic Tardiff and Charlie Hodgdon have been on vacation. Ralagh Williams has been assigned a Conductor's job at Rumford.

Yard Checker Bill Monroe and a partner have purchased a filling station in Fairfield. Wish you success, Bill.

Welcome to Don G. Wolfe, who transferred from Bangor to Waterville as Assistant to Track Supervisor Thorner.

Chief Clerk Denis Chamberlain is out sick. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Stenographer Ruthie Brochu was out sick recently and Marjorie Armstrong substituted. Marje and her husband have purchased a new 1962 Chevy.

Dick Fecteau is the proud owner of a new 1962 Oldsmobile.

Those who have returned to work from sickness are Foremen J. G. Devyn, P. M. Gates and B. E. Trask and Trackmen L. M. Newcomb and N. A. Chamberlain.

Ray Coulombe and his family spent the Easter weekend in Massachusetts visiting relatives.

WATERVILLE SHOPS

B&B Carpenter Wes Morang has recently bid off a foreman's job in the spare crews and is stationed in Gardiner.

Carmen Helper Alfred Dunton is confined to the Sisters hospital with a heart condition.

Laborer Tom Hason has recently been set up as a Blacksmith helper and Laborer Remy Jacques as a Piper helper.

Machinist John Larracey and Checker Dick Delano have recently acquired new cars.

Carpenter Ken Stout has returned after a lengthy illness and is assigned at present as bridge inspector on the interstate highway at Newport.

Millman Howard Low recently had a fire in the roof of his home in Al- bion causing several hundred dollars damage.

Machinst Sis Hamlin is a patient in a local hospital with a heart attack.

Carmen helper Ike Walker has returned after a lengthy illness and eye surgery, and is assigned to the Tool Room.

Blacksmith Pete Gagnon, Sr., is confined to his home with a heart condition and Helper Pete Gagnon, Jr., is set up as blacksmith.

Retired Sheetmetal worker Vezie Tupper died at his home on April 14. He had worked for the Railroad some 25 years and had been retired since 1950.

Stores driver Clayton Moreau is confined to a local hospital.

Carmen Bing Crosby fell from a staging recently and suffered a shoulder dislocation.

Carmen Buster Tuttle is a patient at a local hospital with pneumonia.

LEWISTON

Crossing Tender Joe Dulae has taken the job in Richmond, while Crossing Tender Dave Fields and Crossing Tender Ansel Libby have bid off the tower job in Lewiston. Crossing Tender Ray Flynn bid the job off in Waterville which makes him the Number-one travelling man.

Retired Crossing Tender Don Deardon visited the office recently after his discharge from the hospital. Good luck and good health to you, Don.

Yard Brakeman Charlie LaFlamme finds he has very little spare time on his hands these days what with going to Augusta in line with his duties as Retreat Captain at the Oblate Retreat House, plus his K. of C. activities in Lewiston. No wonder the poor guy is tired!

A tip of the hat to Clerk-stenographer Monique Levesque who has shown that smoking can be “quit.” Some of us obviously did not have the will power that Monique did.

Yard Brakeman Pat St. Pierre is a proud father these days. His son is about to graduate from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station as a member of the USN.

Engineer Sparkie Holden appeared worried lately. Couldn't make up our minds whether he was concerned with the possibility the Celtics might not make it, or the fact that the Red Sox weren't hitting! Sparkie is one of our most rabid sports fans.

Clain Clerk Sieram Carr is devoting much of his spare time to the art of wall papering and we understand he is becoming quite accomplished. Car Clerk Joe McMorrow and Rate Clerk Johnny Myrand are planning an inspection tour to determine just how good Sherm's work is — with Mrs. Carr's permission, of course!

Track Supervisor Bud Harris is a busy man these days but we suspect owning a new Chevy may lighten his burden somewhat in view of the many miles he covers.

VETERANS MEET AT FAIRFIELD — Members of the Maine Railroad Veterans' Association held their annual get-together at Fairfield late in April with a good turn-out, a dinner and entertainment. Among those attending were, seated, Owen Thompson, Waterville; Harold C. Clark, Portland, president; Bart P. Lydon, Portland, secretary, Standing, Stanley Antworth and William Mingo of Waterville.

AUGUSTA

Third trick telegrapher Richard Lougee recently traded an old Buick for a more modern one.

Telegrapher Everett Anderson also traded and is sporting a new Volkswagen.

Clerk Athie Bryant recently underwent minor surgery and is now back at work.

Retired freight handler Leland Hopkins was a recent visitor at the office.

Retired General Agent Herbert L. Thing has returned to his home in Belgrade after spending several months in Winter Haven, Florida.

M. A. Russell has bid off the Agent's position in Hallowell.

A recent trip by rail to Bible Grove, Ill., was enjoyed by Telegrapher Robert Erwin and family with a stop over at Joliet, Ill., to visit relatives. This was Bob's first trip home in two years.

A recent guest of the fish at Indian Pond was General Agent Ralph Tracy. A scenic journey was enjoyed but hosts were not at home.

Fairfield; Francis Brawn, 1st selectman, Oakland; and Donald V. Carter, 1st selectman, Winslow.

The parade, with music by the high school bands from Waterville, Fairfield, Winslow and Oakland, will include a historical costume section, with participants dressed in the fashion of the 1860's. Prizes will be awarded for the best outfits.

Climax of the parade will be the presentation to the City of Waterville of the "Old 470," which made the Maine Central's last run under steam in June, 1953. The old locomotive will be enshrined in a new location as a permanent memorial to the age of steam railroadng.

Mayor Joly will serve as toastmaster for the Centennial Dinner, to be held Monday evening, Oct. 29, at Colby College. President E. Spencer Miller will be the principal speaker, and special guests will include Governor John H. Reed, State Highway Commission Chairman David H. Stevens and President Robert L. Strider of Colby.

Grand Lodge Honors Waterville Veteran

A retired Maine Central employee was honored early this month by the Grand Lodge of Maine for 45 years' service to Masonry. Raymond H. Clark, 77 of Waterville, who retired after 45 years of railroad service in 1950, received the Raymond H. Greenleaf Medal during the opening session of the 143rd annual meeting of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Maine. The session was held in Portland May 1.

Named for the second grand master of the Grand Lodge of Maine, the Greenleaf Medal is the highest award a Maine Mason who has not served as an officer of the Grand Lodge can receive. It is given to a member who has provided well beyond average service to his lodge.

Clark, who at his retirement was assistant foreman of the machine room at the Waterville Shops, was accompanied to Portland by his wife, the former Gertrude Russell of Waterville. They have a daughter and two grandsons.

The citation accompanying the presentation referred to Clark as "an ardent supporter of proper conduct of degree work," in his lodge. "He has done much to promote the welfare and prosperity of his lodge in exemplifying the true spirit of Masonry," the citation added.
