Waterville-Area Youths Receive First Grants From Rail Veterans’ Association

Two Waterville-area youths, sons of Maine Central employees, have received $100 grants from the Maine Association of Railroad Veterans to assist them with higher education expenses.

Clare L. Stinson, 18, and Duane E. Wheeler, 17, were presented the checks August 18 by Herbert E. Jenkins, Portland, Scholarship Committee Chairman for the Maine Association of Railroad Veterans, and Kenneth E. Reed, Waterville area chairman. Their names were drawn by lot from a list of 27 high-ranking and deserving students submitted to the Veterans’ organization by Waterville-area high school principals.

Stinson, son of Locomotive Engineer and Mrs. Harold Stinson, Clinton, will enter the HOBart Trade School in Troy, Ohio, this month. He is a June graduate of Lawrence High School, Fairfield, where he was a member of the bowling and ski clubs, and a delegate to Boys’ State in 1967. In addition to his regular class work at Lawrence High, he has been enrolled for the past two years in a machine tool course at Waterville High School.

Wheeler, who has been accepted at High Point College, No. Carolina, is the son of Conductor and Mrs. Galen Wheeler of Waterville. A June graduate of Waterville High School, he was a member of the soccer team, a library aide, the W Club and president of his Freshman class. He was selected to study in England, France, Italy and Switzerland last July between his junior and senior years in High School.

The grants are the first to be presented by the Maine Association of Railroad Veterans, whose members are considering a similar project on an annual basis. Chairman Jenkins said the Waterville area was chosen for the first grants because of its high concentration of railroad employees, and because of the great increase in Veterans’ memberships from the area in the past year.

Campers Leave, Summer’s Over

Maine Central Railroad conductors shouted “All Aboard” late in August to signal the end of the 1968 sun season for more than 800 summer campers.

The youngsters were passengers on two special trains Saturday, August 24, and Sunday, August 25, from Waterville and Winthrop respectively. They were heading for home—and school—after one of the best Maine summer camping seasons on record.

The Saturday train consisted of 16 sleeping cars, and left Waterville at 4:30 p.m. with stops for more campers at North Belgrade and Winthrop. The Sunday train, with 15 sleepers, loaded at Winthrop at 6:15 p.m., and was non-stop to Portland. Both trains were interchanged with the Boston and Maine Railroad at Portland, and ran via the New Haven Railroad to Pennsylvania Station, New York City.

Robie, Woodbury, Svenson Promoted To Auditor Posts

Three promotions were announced by C. P. Hawkes, Jr., auditor revenue and freight claims, in August.

Chesley E. Robie was named assistant to auditor revenue; Thurlow L. Woodbury named head freight claim representative and traveling auditor; and Donald H. Svenson named freight claim representative and traveling auditor. All three promotions were effective August 1.

Robie is a native of North Stratford, N. H., where he was educated in local schools. He served as a clerk for the Canadian National Railways at Groveton, N. H., before joining Maine Central in 1953 as revision clerk in Portland. He was named head clerk, daily and miscellaneous bureau, in 1957, and revenue statistician in 1962.

A member of the South Portland Lions Club, Robie has been active in the Greater Portland United Fund and Catholic Charities campaigns of the past several years.
TO MY FELLOW EMPLOYEES:

"Ops And Non-Ops"

This noon at the Cumberland Club a Portland businessman said: "I always hear you railroad fellows talking about ‘OPS’ and ‘NON-OPS.’ What in tarnation do those terms mean?" It occurred to me that an answer to this question and some explanation of the various categories of railroad employees might be interesting to Maine Central friends, and even informative to those of us who work on the railroad.

In general, the phrase "OPS" refers to men engaged in operating the railroad, although the word "operating" must be further defined to comprehend merely the movement of trains and their cargoes. Strictly speaking the "OPS" include only four categories of Maine Central employees, namely, enginemen, firemen, conductors and trainmen; the latter two classifications being broken down into road conductors and trainmen, and yard conductors and trainmen. After this explanation someone always says: "Well, why aren't dispatchers, under whose orders trains are put into motion and actually moved, not included in operating personnel? Are they not primarily responsible for all train movements and all transportation on the railroad?" The answer is, I suppose, an historical one and closely tied up with labor agreements.

By the time of termination of railroad ownership by the United States after the first World War and return of the carriers to private operation, we had formulae for the computation of wages and had imported factors peculiar to those crafts operating the trains. These included a full day’s pay for runs involving a certain number of miles, or a certain number of hours, whichever produced the greater amount, and a very complicated set of rules grew up around compensation of enginemen relating to extra pay for heavier weight on drivers: i.e., the operation of heavier units of power, etc. It is clear from this brief explanation that such factors could be applied only to those of our personnel actually operating locomotives and trains and so, by process of elimination, we reached a clear definition of those men constituting "OPS."

The railroad executive does not do his duty and does not "know his book" unless he is a student of the complicated reporting to the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Public Utilities Commissions supplied in a sizable volume each year and known as "Form A." A perusal of this mass of statistics brings out the surprising fact that on the Maine Central there are 128 different job classifications and most of these fall into the category of "NON-OPS." Of these, 278 non-operating employees work in the general office building, 222-242 St. John Street. To be specific we have at the present moment something of the order of 2,047 men and women dedicating their daily efforts to making our form of transportation work efficiently and our Company succeed financially. Only one out of five is engaged in those endeavors which are defined strictly as operating, and so four-fifths fall into the category of "NON-OPS." It is impossible to say that an operating job is more important that a non-operating job. Consider for instance the essentiality of maintenance by engineering crews of track, bridges and signal systems, or the intelligent and careful functioning of the train dispatcher who has in his mind and his hands the lives and property of so many.

Every employee in the 128 job classifications, including secretaries, clerks, cooks, painters, carpenters, plumbers, machinists, truck drivers, blacksmiths, metal workers, telegraphers and last of all, executives, has his role to play and each, through his dedicated effort during his working hours, contributes importantly and essentially to the functioning of the railroad as a living organism and an efficient machine.

The Maine Association of Railroad Veterans will hold its first fall meeting September 22 at Howard Johnson’s Restaurant, Thornton Heights. Our Program Chairman, Leonard E. King has promised a very interesting film on railroad operations by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which will be of interest to all railroad veterans.

The United Association of Railroad Veterans will hold its 38th annual convention September 13-15, 1968, at the Pittsburgh Hilton Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, Pa. The rates are single rooms $11.00, twin rooms $15.00, and Mrs. and Mr. Goodwin of Lawrence, Mass. are spending their annual vacation at Old Orchard Beach. They would like to be remembered to all their friends.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of retired Railroad Conductor James E. Kelley who passed away after a long illness at the Veteran’s Hospital, Togus. Mr. Kelley, was a Veteran of World War I, serving with the U.S. Army in France. He was a member of the Harold T. Andrews Post, American Legion, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

We are hoping for a large attendance at our first fall meeting. All members of the Railroad Veterans family are cordially invited to join us for an enjoyable and sociable time. These meetings present a wonderful opportunity to meet old members and greet new members for a pleasant Sunday afternoon.

Note Of Thanks

Cliff Bull, transportation assistant, general offices, who retired in July, wishes to thank all his friends who contributed to his retirement gift and who sent him cards.

Thinking Safety

By Laurence W. Sparrow

Safety Supervisor

Safety, or more precisely, safety awareness, should be cultivated until it becomes a habit. No other personal achievement will stand you better in time of need.

The man who habitually practices on-the-job safety will find that this carries over to work and play at home or on vacation.

The average person’s thinking on safety might run something like this; “Oh yes, safety. Don’t leave things lying around to harm or trip people. Wear safety goggles and safety shoes. Don’t step on rails while crossing tracks.”

These are correct, but they don’t get to the heart of the problem.

The secret of safety is Y.O.U. On the job, there is no substitute for awareness. YOU need to watch every movement and to make every day a battle for safety. YOU must be alert for hazards in even the most familiar jobs. Make it a code to STOP ACCIDENTS BEFORE ONE STOPS YOU.

Veteran Track Supervisor Thorne Honored At Retirement Reception

Maurice S. Thorne, Maine Central Railroad track supervisor at Waterville since 1954, was honored by nearly 100 friends, associates and fellow railroaders August 9 at a retirement reception in the Waterville American Legion hall.

Several members of Thorne’s family also were in attendance. Thorne rounded out 45 years of Maine Central service on the day of his retirement.

A native of Portland, Thorne began his railroad career in 1923 as a trackman at Rigby, South Portland. He served as a trackman, foreman and assistant foreman of track in the huge Rigby yards until 1942, when he became a leading clerk in the Division Engineer’s Office, Portland.

He became assistant track supervisor, Portland Terminal Company in 1944; track supervisor in Bangor in 1952; and track supervisor at Waterville in 1954.

The affair was arranged by Mrs. Ruth Brochu and Richard Fecteau, clerks in Thorne’s Waterville office. Mrs. Gloria LaLiberty, secretary to the superintendent of the Waterville Shops, circulated the guest book. Wesley M. Martin, Portland, Maine Central engineer of track, served as master of ceremonies.

ON THE MOVE—This is Conductor of DR 2, John Feeney, on the move to make the hitch on this train at Livermore Falls.
BY JERRY SHEA

A Waterville railroader—new small-bore rifle champion of Maine—is the sharpest sharpshooter in the Pine Tree State. He's Ed King, a carman at the Waterville Shops, who for the past 20 years has been devoting his off-time to what is probably the most rarified of all shooting sports, precision small-bore marksmanship. And last month, at the Lincoln County Rifle range in Damariscotta, Ed fired 116 bull's eyes to win trophies in both the 50 and 100-yard events and the Maine Small-bore Rifle Championship.

It's the second time in the past four years that Ed has held the Maine small-bore title, one of the most hotly-contested honors in competitive marksmanship.

The Portland Couple's Bowling League will start Sept. 12 at 6:30 p.m. at West-Port Lanes. This year's Commissioners, Herb Whitmore and Ed Montgomery, say they will give the couples who bowled last year first preference, but they feel that there will be some openings for a few newcomers. So, if you haven't bowled in this fun league and want to take your hard-working wife out for a night of fun and enjoyment, you had better contact either Herbie or Eddie at once.

The Men's Bowling League's new Commissioners, Henry Kenny, Clerk, Cumberland Mills, and Charlie Ferris, Auditor Disbursements' office, said they hope to get started Sept. 22. They have announced that they need a few more fellows to line up the teams.

The men bowl at West-Port Alleys on Sunday evening at 6 p.m.

The girls of the General Office Bowling League will be starting about the middle of September at West-Port Alleys on Wednesday nights at 7:30.

Those interested please get in touch with Mary Berry, Credit Union, or Julie Breggi.

STICKET GETS MAJOR OVERHAUL—Foreman Lewelyn Hill, left, and Byron Fletcher at work on the Waterville motive power which will soon be at work in the yard again.

Annual Golf Tournament Scheduled
For Sept. 28 At Fairlawn, Poland

The Annual Maine Central Railroad Golf Tournament will be held at the Fairlawn Country Club, East Poland, Maine (just off Route No. 122), on Saturday, September 28.

This is the same course where we have held the event in the last couple of years. Every year we have been having a record high entry, and this year will be no exception. Therefore, get your entries in early, and be sure to fill the time you plan to arrive at the golf course and with whom you wish to play. The Owner-Pro, Frank Bartaus, wants us to start between 9:30 a.m. and noon.

The players will be split up into three equal groups, and trophies will be awarded to first gross and first net in each class, with the big prize being the E. Spencer Miller Trophy, which will be awarded the lowest net of the tournament. In case of ties for prizes, the winner will be decided by a match of cards.

Green fees are $3 per person, payable at the course on the day of play. In order to purchase the trophies and other prizes, $1 must be remitted with each entry blank. The deadline for entries is September 23, and no refunds can be made after September 26.

Further information may be obtained by calling Jerry Shea, Car Accounting, Ext. 394, Larry Severance, Engine House, Bangor, or Bob Clukey, BAR, Bangor, Ext. 68.

The final results of the Portland Terminal and Maine Central General Office Golf League could not be reported in this issue because fifteen matches had to be made up by August 26th. Therefore, the winners of prizes will be reported in our October "Messenger."

GENERAL OFFICES

Fred Harris of Marketing Department began a week's vacation at Little Sebago Lake with intentions of completely relaxing, but instead he spent most of that week and the ensuing one at Maine Medical Center as a result of which he suffered with a cold. After his arrival in October he took some colds and his health is poor. While in the hospital for recuperation, he was able to see his family and to return home quickly, for he was feeling better. He has been a faithful member of the hospital staff and is always ready to help others.

H. E. Buchholz and his wife are on a tour of Southland. This tour should take Bucky into the Tennessee-Kentucky mountain districts where with a little caution and a lot of "how-one" can still see (and maybe sample) that "old mountain dew."-J.W.

Arthur Edwards, wife Jean and their four children are on a camping trip to the top of Nova Scotia at Cape Breton for two weeks provided Arthur's money and patience held out. This is also a very scenic and interesting trip involving roughly 2,500 miles round trip. They expect to encompass and spend time fishing, relaxing and touring the countryside.

Earlier this summer, Frank Alger, Jr., attended the 25th reunion of his class at Bowdoin. He wrote: "Now when Frank returned from this week-end wing ding, he extolled the grand and glorious event, but when memories of the occasion faded, realities of a $250 bill of credits standing in its place."

The cure: buy a new car. . . swap the mundane, mouse-gray and slightly elderly Volkswagen for something sportier, smaller, a little bit bigger. Now Frank had traded for a sleek and shiny black model, with all the extras, jazz in wheel covers and racing stripes. Mercurys? . . . Nopes, a Volkswagen . . . the fanciest bug in Maine.

A few mornings ago we were having some "before work" coffee at a local spot and sitting next to us were two gentlemen from the Senior Citizen Set and as the conversation wore on they got around to the subject of Winter weather. They claim we are in for a "tough" Winter with lots of snow real early in the season, and very cold. According to the sages, there are two reasons for this: 1. We are at about the right cycle for such a Winter. . . and 2. Its an unusually early Labor Day!

But before Winter, comes our glorious New England Autumn and the return to school. Several Marketing Department personnel have children entering the higher halls. Fred Harris' son Richard enters University of Maine at Orono to begin a five-year course in Engineering; John Libby, a June graduate of Cheverus and son of "Big Ed" Libby, has enrolled at Bryant and Stratton in Boston, while Ed's eldest son "Skip" returns to St. Anselm's in Manchester for his sophomore year. Joe DiMauro, Roy Cote and Anne Gross all have sons entering high school. Joey Di-Mauro will enter South Portland High School; Paul Cote enrolls at Westbrook High School and Jay Gross begins his high school career at Cheverus.

Fashion note: We notice hem lines are holding at a present length in local stores, but in catalogues and brochures, coats, suits, dresses, skirts are being offered in both short and mid-lengths. One item which isn't offering too much of a choice in the fashions centers is the heel of the shoe. This will be even chunkier, and those who are still holding the line against wide, low heels will be further out this Fall and Winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Royden Cote have entertained numerous friends and relatives this summer. Among their most recent guests are Mr. and Mrs. Sadowski and children of Bethlehem, Pa., where Mr. Sadowski is associated with Bethlehem Steel.

AUGUST BRIDE—Miss Kathleen L. Irving, daughter of Mrs. Raymond L. Irving, Car Accounting, Portland, and the late Moroon C. Irving, became the bride of Paul F. Ragusa of Brooklyn, N. Y., in ceremonies August 11 at Emmaus Lutheran Church, Falmouth. Both are employed in New York City.

JOE DESJARDINS HONORED—Friends in the Engineering Department, Portland, recently honored Joe Desjardins, clerk-typist, Brunswick, as he retired after 46 years of Maine Central service. From left, Carol Bragdon, Joe Coombs, Dee Stanley, Ray Jackson, John Corcoran, Joe Desjardins, Horace Ames, Dick Aylward and Bob Brewster.

Susan J. Snelling, Accounting Department stenographer, became the bride of Lawrence A. Curly in a ceremony August 16 at the Pine Point Congregational Church. Mrs. Curly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Snelling of Seaview Avenue, Scarborough, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Curly, Winnock's Neck Road, Scarborough. They will reside on King Street, Pine Point.

Sympathy is extended to Joe Galant on the recent death of his father.

Charlie Anderson spent a vacation painting his home—at least this time he had the weather with him and got the job done.

Herbie Higgins has returned from a trip to Springfield, Ohio, where he was at camp with the Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard. Interesting highlight was the flight out and back from Dayton.

Dick Greene and his family went on a two-week camping trip.

Reg Roy has the camping bug and purchased a tent this summer to enjoy weekends and vacation at camp sites in Skowhegan and Waterville.

Bob Rounds spent a week of his vacation confined to his home with a sprained ligament in his leg. At least he enjoyed the first week, visiting in New Jersey.

Dick Luce and family took a week to go camping and visit his parents at Waterville.

Paul Landry spent a vacation at home catching up on various chores such as painting the house.

Louise Scannell recently returned from a week of vacation.

"Tug" Wilson who brushed up on his game at Willowlade Golf Club during his leave.

Fred Wilson and wife Pauline plan a motor trip down through Cape Cod and points south, stopping off to visit their son and family at South Dartmouth, Mass. His son is being transferred to Thailand in October for a year's duty there in the Air Force.

"Pete" Maxfield was on vacation and had a great time fishing.

Ralph W. Libby, Car Service Office, and his wife had a most enjoyable trip to Niagara Falls on their vacation.

Donna Bredin and three children of George and Dorothy Proctor, were guests of honor at a dinner party at Little Sebago Lake for her birthday and attended Brunswick Summer Theatre to see "West Side Story."

Nat Alward, Transportation Department, enjoyed a camping trip and a side trip to Boothbay Harbor and attended a Summer Theatre.

Tom Foulke of Personnel Department, and family had a most enjoyable trip to the Catskill Mountains.

Eleanor Shuman, Real Estate office, vacationed in August.

Dick Esty and family spent two weeks vacationing in the Belgrade Lakes area.

Larry Garet and his family vacationed at China Lake near Waterville.

Marion Faiby and son John spent their vacation at Calhoon's Island, Nova Scotia.

The new face in the Engineering Department is that of Bill Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox have three children living at 38 Cushman Street, Portland. Before coming to the Maine Central, Bill worked for Soule Glass and Paint Company.

Others on vacation recently were Stan Jordan, Alice Elson, Lin Lamson, Larry Harding and Carol Brad- don.

General Counsel A. M. Kaucoles and Mrs. Kaucoles took the Boezean family to Montana, to visit their daughter and family.

Scott Scully, General Attorney, flew to Scotland in July and enjoyed some golf along with other points of interest in the land where the game originated.

Eric Smith, Director of Statistical Studies, relaxed in the rustic life of a vacation retreat at Kataladin Iron Works in northern Maine.

Ruth Hakin, office of the Secretary of the Maine Publishing Association, went to Nova Scotia via the ferry “Bluenose” in early August, and upon her return John Dresser of the same office and his wife also went to Nova Scotia with their Volkswagen camper.

Jenne Snieg of the Car Accounting Office and his family vacationed recently at Little Sebago Lake.

George Lowell, Portland Terminal bookkeeper, and his wife motored to New Palitz, N. Y. to visit their daughter and her husband and also toured Niagara Falls and Saranac Springs.

Mrs. Colleen Bimpson, stenographer on leave from the Comptroller's Office, left for Canada July 25 who was named Tamara Faye. Colleen and her husband have moved to 134 Veranda Street, Portland.

John J. McGinnis who has been working for the summer in the Payroll Deductions Bureau was graduated from the University of Maine in commencement exercises held August 16 at Orono.
Bill Hayward's son Bob will shortly assume new duties as Director of Courses at the Dominican-American Cultural Institute in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. He is presently Asst. Director of Courses at the Bi National Cultural Institute in Bogota, Colombia. Bill's other son, Dick, was employed for the summer by W. H. Hinman Construction Company. He will return to Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana, in the Fall for his junior year. He is a member of Theta Xi Fraternity.

Sympathy is extended to Betty MacDonald on the recent deaths of her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Brophy.

RIGBY

The coming of the late summer means vacations are over for most employees, but some reserve theirs for fall hunting.

Jay Welch, Terminal employee, is the owner of a 1936 Oldsmobile. "Tommy" McCafferty, truck-driver for the Stores Department for many years, as well as working in other capacities within the terminal, died on July 26th at age 65. He had retired on disability, but only lived to receive three pension checks. His illness was of long duration. Members of the Stores Department including Storekeeper, Maurice Allaire, Stores Clerk, "Frank" Kane, and Traveling Storekeeper Hugh Flynn, attended the funeral. A floral tribute was sent by the Rigby Welfare and Flower Fund.

SEND-OFF AT RIGBY—Clerk John R. Stanton, who retired last month after 58 years of MeC/PTCo service, received a purse and the good wishes of fellow workers at the Rigby Yard Office. From left: Charles Talbot, Agent Paul V. Inciidentally, Roger made the Dean's List at Thomas College, and was Secretary of his local Chapter, and national Vice-President of Kappa Delta Phi.

Congratulations to the family of Joe Boudreau. It's a girl.

Dick Goldrup bought himself a motorcycle. He said it came in handy recently when he hurt his leg, as it felt like he's flying, with his required astronaut helmet.

Our Leader, P. L. Messier, Conductor, Relief Switcher No. 2, missed his clambake recently, due to circumstances beyond his crew's control, but he did get home in time for milk cracker, mushrooms and the milk of charm shells and a smoldering fire. Leo says he should make his plans in secret.

A new face at the Yard Office this summer was Al Allthen, Jr., from China. He's the son of Mr. Allthen, Sr., the shipping foreman at Scott Paper Co.

ENGAGED—Patricia Hamm of Vezzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hamm and niece of Conductor Herb Rigby, is the bride-to-be of Norman E. Scale of Vezzie. She's a graduate of Orono High School and D'Lor School of Beauty Culture, Brewer.

New car owners at Waterville Station include Denise Belanger with a "36" Impala, and Basil Higgins a '53 Chrysler.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Maurice Thorne, whose brother, Roger, passed away recently.

Passing out cigars this past month was Allan Powers, announcing the birth of a new daughter, Dawn Gay. The celebration shortened by Eight Brooch and Wallace Pooler Engineering Dept. Also, B. Cook, Carroll Hazard and Dennis Chamberlain, freight office.

L. K. Powers recently went on a deep sea fishing trip and got his fill of salt water fish. He saw a whale, a school of sharks and a couple of porpoises to boot. He said that the trip really fulfilled his urge for deep sea fishing for a while.

L. J. Bujold took his family to Quebec on his vacation. They went to the zoo while in Canada.

It's good to see our old buddy, Al Higgins, back to work. As usual, he was in top shape. Incidentally, Al trimmed himself down to a comfortable 100 plus while convalescing.

The Fox saw some quite interesting people recently while working the day shift. They included John Robinson, our former Trainmaster, now in Canada, and Clyde Hayes, originally from Waterville, but now in Bangor.

Ralph LaLiberte spent his vacation baby sitting, which he enjoyed very much. He only regrets that he doesn't have to feed the energy kids have.

Roger St. Amand, spare belt rack clerk, is taking a couple of days off to go to Montreal before school starts.

Judith Coulombre
Gets $500 Grant

Judith Coulombre, daughter of Work Equipment Supervisor and Mrs. Ray Coulombre, has been named to receive a $500 grant from the Thayer Hospital Board of Trustees to assist in her education as a nurse.

Miss Coulombre will enter the Faulkner Hospital School of Nursing in Boston this fall.

Funds for the grants are contributed by trustees and friends of Thayer Hospital, Waterville. They are awarded annually to deserving students who agree to work at Thayer for at least a year after graduation. This year’s awards were announced in August by Robert A. Marden, trustee president.

Miss Coulombre is a June graduate of Waterville High School.

Arthur B. Neal, station agent, Lincoln, July 17.

50-Year Veteran
Edward Runnels
Dies Suddenly

Edward S. Runnels, who in July completed 50 years service with the Maine Central and Portland Terminal Company, died suddenly August 24. Death came at a Portland hospital after a short illness.

Runnels, who was 70 years of age, was born in Hallowell, April 1, 1898, the son of Arthur and Jane Scanlan Runnels. He was graduated from Hallowell High School in 1918.

He served as tower operator at various stations between Bangor and Portland and of late had operated Tower X at Portland. On July 24 Superintendent A. N. Tupper of the Portland Terminal Company visited the tower and, on behalf of President E. Spencer Miller presented Runnels with a suitably inscribed billfold marking completion of his half-century of service.

Runnels was a communicant of St. Peter’s Catholic Church, where a Requiem High Mass was sung. Burial was in Hallowell.
