Battling woods fire

Firefighters work to contain a series of fires in Billerica yesterday which erupted along the Boston and Maine railroad tracks, destroying 20 acres of wooded area. The fires were reportedly ignited by sparks from a passing freight train.