CALLS FOR PAPERS (con’t)

Vagantes. Cornell University, March 11-14, 2004. Deadline for 250-word abstracts and curriculum vitae: October 31, 2003. Vagantes is an annual conference for graduate students studying any aspect of the Middle Ages. The conference was conceived with several goals in mind, including fostering a sense of community among medievalists at the early stages of their careers, providing exposure to an interdisciplinary forum, and showcasing the resources of the host institutions. For further information, email vagantes@cornell.edu.

Saints and Pilgrims around the Atlantic. College of Charleston, South Carolina, Spring 2004. Deadline for submissions: December 2003. Papers to focus on the cult of saints, pilgrimage, etc., with the Atlantic Ocean as a connecting factor. Papers might compare the cult of a given saint, or forms of devotion in general, in Europe and among the emigrant community in the US; discuss pilgrimage practices on either side of (or across) the Atlantic; look at how vitae or motifs change with time and place; etc. Studies of specific saints or cults in areas washed by the Atlantic will also be acceptable, and we would like to have a variety of approaches—historical, art historical, archaeological, etc. Contact: Margaret Cormack, cormackm@ecs.fsu.edu.

Annual Conference, American Catholic Historical Association (ACHA), St. Thomas University, Miami, April 16-18, 2004. Deadline for abstracts: December 5, 2003. The association invites papers dealing with any aspect of Catholic history from the Early Christian era to the present. To submit proposals for individual papers or full panels, contact: Francis J. Sicius, Department of History and Religious Studies, St. Thomas University, Miami, FL 33199.
