Five is

the number of human senses

the number of Great Lakes in the United States the number of toes or fingers on almost all amphibians, reptiles, and mammals

the number of vowels in the English language

the number of oceans in the world.

Five is between 4 and 6

used to describe perfect signal clarity in radio communication- “Five by five”

it used to identify the stages of loss and grief: denial, anger, bargaining, depression, acceptance.

Five is

the most destructive category of hurricanes

it forms the basis for most western tuning systems: A perfect fifth.

In many cultures, five is the number of cardinal directions including the center.

Five is

the essence of this exhibition.
