Made tons of new friends, evolved my way of thinking, inspired me to learn more and then became a counselor... I never lost that feeling of inspiration I got from being around the other delegates as a fellow delegate and as a counselor. Definitely my most rewarding job. – Abby C.

Mark your calendar! The 2017 World Affairs Seminar is Saturday, June 24 – Friday, June 30 at Carroll University in Waukesha, Wisconsin.

Education and Social Justice - Program Highlights

The World Affairs Seminar is an exciting opportunity to meet people your age from all over the world. You will not only get to know them, but you will have the experience of solving problems, negotiating results and creating a vision with them. The world you will inherit, and the world you will pass on to those who come after you will be shaped by your decisions, efforts and actions. Your World Affairs Experience will give you the skills, insights and confidence to do your best.

In addition, you will:

- See education and social justice from many perspectives.
- Gain a world view of how issues of education and social justice are handled internationally.
- Take Field Trips and share hands-on experiences with your classmates.
- Work with fellow delegates to define issues and problem areas related to education and social justice.
- Discover how you personally can make the world a better place.
- Explore how traditional roles and new opportunities come together as international society adjusts to new expectations and norms.
- Question how existing social systems are affected by change.
- What part does individual personal behavior play?

I attended WAS... and met some of the most wonderful people. The experience changed my life and it still makes me happy to see the people I met share the awesome things they're doing with their lives! – Ashley M.

The 2017 World Affairs Seminar will feature experts in education from around the world sharing insights and views. Cutting edge ideas and new scientific approaches will be measured against centuries old tradition. Your role as a delegate is to distill information, identify what YOU feel is most important, develop skills and abilities, and work together with others to both lead and to collaborate with others from different cultures to reach viable solutions.
