Tuesday, July 19
5:30–7:30 pm Reception

Wednesday, July 20
8:00–8:45 Continental breakfast
8:45–9:00 Welcome and introductions
9:00–10:00 The relationship between editors and the sponsoring association: editorial independence, budgeting
Dr. Karen Young
10:00–10:30 The Hellenic Veterinary Medical Association journal and its relationship with the association
Dr. Athanassios Trypenou
10:30–10:45 Break
10:45–11:45 Keynote speaker: Committee on Publication Ethics
Dr. Geraldine Pearson
11:45–12:30 Open access: when and how, financial models
Suzanne Albrecht
12:30–1:30 Lunch
1:30–2:30 Authorship: authorship criteria, author order, ghosts and guests, addition and deletion, indicating contribution, authorship versus acknowledgment
Dr. Steve DiBartola
2:30–3:15 Financial conflicts of interest: disclosure forms, indicating conflicts to readers
Dr. Kurt Matushek
3:15–3:30 Break
3:30–4:15 Duplicate publication: how do we define it, how do we recognize it, what do we do about it?
Dr. Mary Christopher
4:15–4:30 Wrap-up and final comments
Suzanne Albrecht
Senior Journal Publishing Manager
Wiley-Blackwell

Originally a native of the Maryland suburbs of Washington, D.C., Suzanne Albrecht earned her Bachelor’s degree in German Literature at the University of Maryland, a program which included a one-year sojourn in Berlin, Germany. A keen interest in linguistics eventually drew her back to Berlin to study at the Free University. Her career in scientific publishing began in the linguistics department of Walter de Gruyter. She moved to Wiley-Blackwell in 1999 where she has worked in production and commissioning, and now manages journals in animal science and agriculture. Her initially ill-advised plan for adventure has grown to a twenty-year residence in Germany, while the adventure continues in learning about animal disease, reproduction, behavior, nutrition, and ocean acidification, to name a few.

Mary Christopher, DVM, PhD
School of Veterinary Medicine
University of California-Davis

Dr. Mary Christopher is a Professor of Clinical Pathology at the University of California-Davis School of Veterinary Medicine. She received her DVM at Iowa State University and did her PhD and postdoctoral training at the University of Minnesota. Her research is focused on erythrocytes, diagnostic clinical pathology, informatics, and education. She was Section Editor (1994-1997) and then Editor-in-Chief (1997-2009) of the journal Veterinary Clinical Pathology. In 2004 she organized the first annual meeting of what is now the International Association of Veterinary Editors. She is the 2011-12 Chair of the Literature Review Technical Selection Committee at the National Library of Medicine, NIH, which reviews and selects biomedical journals for indexing in MEDLINE. Recently she was a Fulbright scholar in Egypt, where she taught scientific writing and journal editing.

Stephen P. DiBartola, DVM, DACVIM
Professor of Medicine
Associate Dean for Administration and Curriculum
College of Veterinary Medicine
Ohio State University

Dr. DiBartola received his DVM degree from the University of California, Davis in 1976. He completed an internship in Small Animal Medicine and Surgery at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York in June 1977. He was a resident in Small Animal Medicine at the Ohio State University College of Veterinary Medicine from July 1977 to July 1979. He was Assistant Professor of Medicine at the College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Illinois from July 1979 until August 1981. In August 1981, Dr. DiBartola returned to the Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences at the Ohio State University as Assistant Professor of Medicine. He was promoted to Associate Professor in 1985 and to Professor in 1990. He received the Norden Distinguished Teaching Award in 1988 and completed a textbook entitled Fluid Therapy in Small Animal Practice first published by W.B. Saunders Co. in 1992. The fourth edition of this book was published in 2011. Dr. DiBartola currently serves as co-editor-in-chief for the Journal of Veterinary Internal Medicine. Dr.
DiBartola’s clinical areas of interest include diseases of the kidney and fluid, acid base, and electrolyte disturbances. His areas of research interest include reactive systemic amyloidosis and two familial renal diseases of cats: familial amyloidosis of Abyssinian cats and autosomal dominant polycystic kidney disease in Persian cats.

Kurt Matushek, DVM, MS, DACVS
Editor-in-Chief
Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association
American Journal of Veterinary Research

Dr. Matushek received his veterinary degree from the University of Illinois in 1983, and subsequently went on to complete a master’s degree and internship in small animal medicine and surgery at the Ontario Veterinary College in Guelph, Ontario. Returning to the Chicago area, he worked in a private emergency practice until accepting a position in the small animal surgery residency program at the University of Wisconsin. After completing his residency, Dr. Matushek spent two years working in a private referral practice in the Detroit area, during which time he was certified by the American College of Veterinary Surgeons. Dr. Matushek joined the AVMA as an assistant editor in 1992, and in 2009, was promoted to editor-in-chief for the two AVMA journals.

Geraldine Pearson, BSN, MSN, PhD
Committee on Publications Ethics

Geraldine Pearson is a nurse practitioner with a specialty in child and adolescent psychiatry. She is currently an associate professor at University of Connecticut School of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry, Child/Adolescent Division. She is the director of HomeCare Program, a short term medication management program for juvenile justice involved youth. She is the editor of Perspectives in Psychiatric Care and an elected member of COPE (Committee on Publication Ethics). She received her BSN and MSN from the University of Cincinnati and her PhD from the University of Connecticut School of Nursing. She is co-editor of a textbook that will be published in December 2011.

Athanassios E. Tyrpenou, DVM, MPhil, PhD
Editor-in-Chief and Executive Editor
Hellenic Veterinary Medical Society

Short biography
- 1965 – 1971 DVM Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece
- 1979 – 1983 MPhil Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece
- 1998 – 2002 PhD Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece
- 1981 – 1997 Head EU National Refer. Laboratory for Residues, Athens, Greece
- 1998 – 2004 Head HPLC Laboratory Assoc. Res. Scientist, Athens, Greece
- 2002 – 2003 PAA, EU PHARE Twinning Project BG01/IB/AG-03: BULGARIA
- 2004 – 2005 RTA, EU PHARE Twinning Project BG02/IB/AG-03: BULGARIA
Karen M. Young, VMD, PhD
Editor-in-Chief
Veterinary Clinical Pathology

Karen M. Young earned a BA in History and Russian Language in 1973, a VMD in 1978, an internship certificate in 1979, a residency certificate in medical oncology in 1981, and a PhD in hematopathology in 1985, all from the University of Pennsylvania. She joined the faculty of the University of Wisconsin–Madison in 1985 and is currently Clinical Professor of Clinical Pathology and Chief of Diagnostic Services in the Veterinary Medical Teaching Hospital. Her research interests include regulation of hematopoiesis, tumor markers, and effective strategies for teaching and assessing problem-solving abilities. A recipient of many teaching awards, she is a fellow of the UW-Madison Teaching Academy and the founding chair of the Education Committee of the American Society for Clinical Pathology. She has served on the editorial board and as Section Editor for Hematology and Immunology and Associate Editor of Veterinary Clinical Pathology and is currently Editor-in-Chief of the journal.