

Hoffstot Sound & Pictures Debuts Music Comedy Blockchain on Video Entertainment Platform Viddsee

New York, 27 JUNE 2018 - Hoffstot Sound & Pictures today made its underground music comedy, MYSTERY OF SIMBI_XOMBIES, available to watch for free on Viddsee, as a nine-chapter series. It originally premiered at ÜR Theater on January 1, with parts releasing periodically until October 31.

Written and directed by David Hoon Kim, the film follows a Brooklyn grunge band whose reggae comeback on the web, perfectly timed with an outbreak of corporate altered foods, unwittingly triggers a global 'Xombi' Rebirth. "As the youngest from Generation X, I feel compelled to honor our fallen heroes, and engage the corporate colonization of culture and music since the '90s." said Kim.

The Kickstarter Staff Pick features an Original Soundtrack written by the band SheepPsyche, including genres that range from alternative to K-pop to reggae. In keeping with the futuristic theme, the feature-length Director's Cut (releasing October 31) boasts a never-before-seen VR viewing experience, complete with unique moving 360° camera shots plus clever edits, presented in a virtual reality theater.

"We chose to take our story 'Prototype' Tour to Singapore-based Viddsee because we believe it is the most genuine and best-positioned platform to reach out to forward-thinking audiences in Asia and beyond," Kim added. "By sharing our message widely for free, we hope to have others come join our story blockchain, to help propagate the story globally."

Releasing October 31, MYSTERY OF SIMBI_XOMBIES Über Reality (ÜR) Version shall include: the (1) 360°VR Feature Director's Cut download, (2) behind-the-scenes secrets, plus (3) commercial story rights on blockchain (details TBA). The Original Soundtrack shall release separately, on the same day.
