The big surprise of this batch of records for me, however, is a brilliant set by Ivo Perelman, a Brazilian tenor saxophonist, who is caught in Ivo for K2B2 Records with Latino stars Airtó, Flora Purim, and Eliane Elias in a program of children's songs. Perelman is an original, who may remind some of Albert Ayler, but who has his own voice. His friends here collaborate in an expedition that is so imaginative that all questions of nationality or ethnicity fade into the background. This is simply fine music.
