

OXNARD / PORT HUENEME / CAMARILLO / VENTURA

Press-Courier

56, Number 189

January 7, 1993

African rhythms

AP photo

▲ Brazilian saxophonist Iva Perelman poses in New York in August with his instrument of choice. Perelman is a distinct voice in the new "batucada generation" — musicians who incorporate African rhythms in modern Brazilian music. His recently released second album "Children of Ibeji," uses the nascent style, which he says is new only in its approach.