Have your highlighter ready. We asked professors to summarize their courses for next year in 140 characters or less — here, in no particular order, is what they came up with. We’ve left space for your notes on the final page. For more information on next year’s courses, including departmental requirements and meeting times, check out the new course catalog.
Bootstrapping into American Culture

American Girls

Joyce. Issues of loss and social change, uses and sexual roles in Chinese history.

Public Economics

We recommend using this space to take notes, but don’t let that stifle your creativity.