

Elite Interviewing

From Preparation to Publication

Goldsmiths, University of London

3 July 2017, 11:00-18:00

This day-long workshop led by researchers from across the Consortium for Humanities and the Arts South-East England (CHASE) is designed for research students who are conducting interviews with individuals who hold a particular status, an extraordinary level of influence, or by virtue of their position in a community, occupy a particularly sensitive position, and may be easily identifiable. Examples could include politicians, business leaders, activists, prominent artists, writers or celebrities in media or sport. The views of these people may form an important part of the data gathered for a research project, confirming or countering ideas and perspectives from other sources, but can also present practical and ethical challenges that require more consideration.

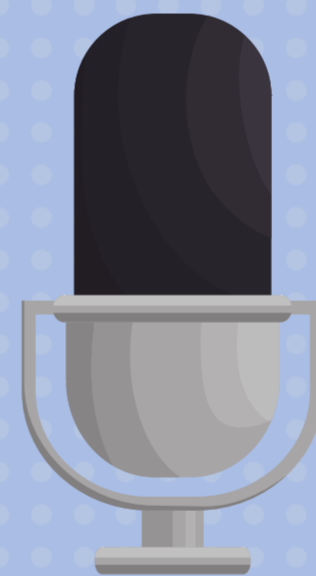

Through the course of the day, we will consider the following topics:

Why interview? Elites v informants, epistemological issues

Ethical guidance and anonymity

Power relations and interview technique

Interpretation, analysis, transcription and integration

Session leaders :

Dr Sally Broughton Micova (University of East Anglia)

Professor Aeron Davis (Goldsmiths)

Professor Des Freedman (Goldsmiths)

Dr Toby James (University of East Anglia)

Dr Elizabeth McDonnell (University of Sussex)

Dr Matthew Sillence (University of East Anglia)

Register for your place by Friday 2 June 2017 at <http://www.chase.ac.uk/elite-interviewing>

For further information, please contact Dr Matthew Sillence
(University of East Anglia) at m.sillence@uea.ac.uk or
+44(0)1603 591929