The Bonner Network’s
2019 New Bonner Directors & Coordinators Handbook

July 28 - July 31, 2019
Princeton, New Jersey
We are delighted that you are joining us for this year’s meeting of new Bonner directors, coordinators, and staff. Participants include representatives from 23 institutions of higher education, including nine with established Bonner Scholar Programs, seven with established Bonner Leader Programs, and seven colleges and universities that might start a new Bonner Program in the future.

Over the next few days, you’ll have a chance to learn about the fundamentals and best practices for a comprehensive program tied to student success, community engagement, and campus-wide involvement. Since 1990, the Bonner Program has provided students with “Access to Education and Opportunity to Serve.” The model provides campuses with a model to strengthen their culture and infrastructure for community-engaged learning, as well as successfully promote greater access and diversity amongst students. Finally, the program is a unique student-centered avenue for institutions of higher education to build reciprocal, sustained partnerships with communities. By engaging students, faculty, and others in building the capacity of non-profit organizations, schools, government offices, the Bonner Program tackles issues of hunger, homelessness, health, education, the environment, and other community needs.

You are joining a diverse and inspiring network of individuals and campuses! The Bonner Network is made up of dedicated, generous people across 65+ institutions who openly share their wisdom and experience. Since 1990, Bonner Programs across the United States have graduated more than 15,000 alumni, graduates who live and work around the world. Our four-year developmental approach prepares graduates for college and lifelong success. More than a third of alumni work for non-profits; a third work in government; and a third work in the for-profit sector. All share a commitment to being civically involved and continuing to contribute to their communities. Additionally, our work supports the development of civic-minded professionals in the higher education and nonprofit sector, which we call “The Pipeline Project.”

Since 1990, the Foundation has provided more than $100 million in endowment funding that has paved the way for sustained institutional commitments. With a program that emphasizes student leadership at the core, campuses in the network have expanded and deepened staffing levels, faculty engagement, and other characteristics of engaged campuses. Through workshops over the next few days, we’ll introduce the frameworks and best practices of the Bonner Program model. You’ll have an opportunity to plan for your work and to participate in a vibrant community of practice.

We cannot wait to get you started!

Transformational Goals

Campus

Level of Work | Goals for Student Development | Goals for Campus Infrastructure | Goals for Community Impact
---|---|---|---
Macro | Community Leaders | Campus as Citizen | System & Policy Change

Meso

- Campus-Wide Leaders
- Centers of Engagement
- Capacity-Building for Service Providers & Collaboratives

Micro

- Staff & Faculty Leaders
- Engaged Teaching
- Evidence-based Programs & Projects

- Student Leaders
- Engaged Learning
- Direct Service

Leverage Bonner Network as a community of best practice, and resource for higher education locally and nationally.

Build campus center that leads effort to make place-based community engagement deep, pervasive, integrated & developmental.

Develop and integrate community engaged learning courses & programs.

Develop & engage students’ knowledge, skills, values, and collective action.

Provide capacity-building support for collaboratives to achieve measurable community and systemic change.

Provide capacity-building support for organizations to improve effectiveness, efficiency, and resources.

Train & support leaders who develop & manage evidence-based programs and projects.

Mobilize students, faculty, staff, & community members to support individuals & places.
Four-Year Progression

Strategic Questions:

1. How can you use this information as you begin to meet with students to ensure that they are moving along a trajectory from direct service to a capacity-building or social action capstone project?

2. How will you structure your time so that you can meet with partners to identify the kinds of roles and projects that will meet your student development goals at each level?

Strategic Questions:

1. How will your students’ placements and calendar of education, training, and reflection activities provide students with the skills and understanding needed at each stage of development?

2. How can you integrate the 8 Themes modules (see below) to support students’ development along this continuum?

3. How might you use this information in your discussions with faculty, staff, and other campus and community constituents?

Strategic Questions:

1. How might you work with current (or potential) community partners to ensure that there are student roles across each of these levels?

2. How might you use this information to collaborate with faculty to identify academic and course linkages?
Strategic Questions:

1. What issue-based pathways might be developed in your surrounding community to address issues of concern to your partners and of interest to your students?

2. Are faculty teaching courses related to these issues with whom you could collaborate?
Strategic Questions:

1. Which of the structures (above) are already in place at your institution, and which need to be built?

2. How might you catalyze changes and structures that address these strategic initiatives?
Program Management Roles

Participation in Bonner Foundation-Sponsored Activities

- Two student Bonner Congress representatives must participate in Congress Meeting (October)
- Bonner staff must participate in Fall Administrator Meeting (November)
- Senior Interns should participate in webinars and online forums
- Campus team (staff, students, faculty) participate in Summer Leadership Institute (June)
- Staff participate in ongoing surveys, communication, and special projects
- Other meetings (i.e., Provosts, Development Officers, etc.) may be offered

Administrative/Financial (BSP)

- Submit registrar’s list at beginning of each semester/quarter & summer
- Submit reimbursement report at end of each semester & summer
- Submit community fund report at end of each semester & summer
- Submit annual report narrative
- Submit enrichment grant proposals (endowed campuses)

Campus-wide Collaboration

- Maintain relationships with Admissions and Financial Aid for recruiting and replacing Bonners
- Conduct a recruitment process according to guidelines and finalize selection of class (spring)
- Maintain a replacement process for Bonner Scholars/Leaders
- Continue to grow a campus-wide culture and center, working with Student Affairs, Academic Affairs, etc.

Direct Service Placements & Capacity-Building Projects

- Build partnerships that offer student placements at multiple levels and include capacity building projects
- Arrange and carry out advising each semester
- Ensure students complete Community Learning Agreements at beginning of each term
- Ensure students log hours and trainings in Bonner Web-Based Reporting (BWBRS)
- Ensure students complete service accomplishments at end of each term
- Conduct end-term student & site evaluations
- Update service opportunities & agencies in BWBRS each semester
- Run a First-Year Service Trip
- Manage process for Summer Internships

Education, Training & Reflection Activities

- Plan and lead student meetings for developmental training & enrichment opportunities weekly or every other week
- Plan and run Bonner Orientation
- Plan and run Bonner Retreats
- Design and implement Cornerstone Activities (First Year Trip, 2nd Year Exchange, Junior Leadership, Senior Capstones, Senior Presentations of Learning)
- Arrange and carry out advising each semester
- Provide advanced leadership opportunities for students (Bonner Leadership Team, Impact Conference, SLI, & others)
- Manage student leadership team, Congress Representatives, and Junior/Senior Interns
- Build in opportunities for reflection
Bonner Learning Outcomes

Over the past decade, we have begun to formalize a set of learning outcomes connected to the co-curricular, curricular, and integrative experiences associated with its four-year civic engagement program. These outcomes link with those used by the Association of American Colleges and Universities. The Bonner Learning Outcomes Rubric articulates learning outcomes with performance descriptors that describe progressive levels of attainment. The rubric can be used for evaluating and discussing student learning, such as in conjunction with a Capstone, Senior Presentation of Learning or portfolio of work.

Definition and Framing Language

Civic engagement is "working to make a difference in the civic life of our communities and developing the combination of knowledge, skills, values and motivation to make that difference. It means promoting the quality of life in a community, through both political and non-political processes." [Excerpted from Civic Responsibility and Higher Education, edited by Thomas Ehrlich, published by Oryx Press, 2000, Preface, page vi.] This definition applies to the Bonner Program, which involves a developmental progression of service and civic involvement, including exposure to multiple forms of engagement. Additionally, the Bonner Common Commitments – civic engagement, community building, diversity, international perspective, social justice, and spiritual exploration – affirm the holistic educational approach of the Bonner Program, which seeks to support the success of students and their clarification of core values.

The learning outcomes in this rubric relate to our core programmatic values and purposes, while also connecting with the mission and purpose of many of the institutions in the Bonner Network. Additionally, they fit with the developmental frameworks of the Bonner Program, which prioritize both an assets-based approach to community partnerships that value place and issue-based knowledge, as well as the significance of student voice and leadership. The rubric includes ten outcomes (see opposite page).

Bonner Developmental Model

Civic engagement can take many forms, from individual volunteerism to organizational involvement to electoral participation. Students in the Bonner Program engage in direct service, service leadership, capacity building projects, social action campaigns, with many of these activities linked to community-based learning courses. Thus, multiple types of work may be involved:

• Bonners take a lead in managing service programs that engage other students and sometimes community members (such as youth or residents in the neighborhood). In the process, learn about the community and the specific issue their service is addressing.

• Bonners research, organize, and carry out public education, one that includes multiple perspectives on an issue and how to make positive change through various courses of public action. As a result, others are recruited to take action on an issue.

• Bonners are learning how to lead social action campaigns to bring about tangible changes in public policy. Through this process, the student demonstrates multiple types of civic action and skills.

• Bonners integrate their academic learning with civic or community engagement, often while producing a tangible product (such as an issue brief, a marketing plan, resident survey, curriculum for a community program) that engaged community constituents and built the capacity of community-based organization.

Note: The Bonner Learning Outcomes rubric draws on rubrics developed as part of the VALUE initiative of the Association of American Colleges and Universities and the Massachusetts Department of Higher Education, including the Civic Engagement, Civic Values, Civic Knowledge, and Integrative Learning Rubrics. Specifically, the Bonner Learning Outcomes Rubric is adapted from the Civic Engagement, Civic Knowledge, Civic Values, Integrative Learning, and Global Learning Rubrics.

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Theme</td>
<td>Exploring Identity &amp; Place</td>
<td>From Service to Solutions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description of Theme</td>
<td>In the first term, students explore and find issues and causes in which they can make a difference while also learning. They intentionally engage in learning about themselves, each other, and the places surrounding the campus where they will serve.</td>
<td>Students begin to learn the philosophy and approaches for making an impact and identifying solutions to the issues they are confronting.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Key Developmental Milestones</td>
<td>Many programs use strategies such as rotations, shadowing, or “speed meeting” with partners to expose students to different issues and potential placements. By the end of the first semester, students should find a primary site and position.</td>
<td>Your program should implement a First Year Trip during the year (often during Spring Break) that takes first year students outside of the region of their school for a service and educational experience.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| High-Impact Practices and Coursework | • Some students may be enrolled in a related First Year Seminar within a minor or certificate that involves common readings and exposure to themes of civic engagement and social justice.
• Some campuses engage students in a Learning Community within a residence hall or other context. | • Use 1-to-1 meetings and advising to help students identify courses and majors that may interest them.
• Through advising, refer students to useful Service-Learning coursework and other academic courses that may mesh with their interests and engagement.
• Manage a process to ensure that students find summer Internships. |
| Reflection and Advising Topics | Identity and place: Let’s talk about experiences in service in which you learned about place and thought about your identity and the identities of others different from your own. What have you learned? | Recognizing solutions: Let’s talk about issues you have begun to find a passion for addressing. What strategies and solutions have you learned? What courses and other college experiences have meshed with these interests? |
Suggested First Year Workshops

<table>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Session 1</td>
<td>Identity Circles: This workshop guides participants to reflect on and share qualities they believe make them who they are. It is an excellent activity to use with the first year cohort to introduce them to thinking more deeply about issues of diversity (within themselves and their community). It builds self-reflection, communication, and trust.</td>
<td>Discovering Solutions That Work: This workshop (drawn from Solutions U) uses games and prizes to get students to learn about discovering the best solutions for social problems. It also helps them to find and analyze evidence of what is working. It has been modified to fit the Bonner Program context.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Session 2</td>
<td>An Introduction to Place: Students should be introduced to the history, economics, politics, culture, and other key features of the community where they serve. This workshop provides a customizable workshop for place-based learning and immersion. It includes conceptualizations of place as well as ways to discuss power and privilege with students.</td>
<td>Making a Difference - Measuring Impact: This workshop (drawn from SolutionsU) helps students to understand the challenges that social service organizations face in developing and implementing programs that lead to positive outcomes and impact. It uses real examples of programs and evidence to teach students to think more critically.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Session 3</td>
<td>River Stories: This workshop provides a creative, artistic way to build community through the sharing of individual stories. Students share their own paths (personal and educational), using the metaphor of a river to describe life experiences. This activity builds context and cohesion, as well as communication and listening abilities.</td>
<td>Tackling Root Causes: This workshop (drawn from Solutions U) explores the concept of root causes, teaching students to think about the reasons that the issues and inequities they are tackling exist. It guides participants on an analytical and discussion-based journey beyond “Band-Aid” approaches to social issues and presents strategies seek to understand root causes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Session 4</td>
<td>Community Asset Mapping: This workshop teaches an &quot;assets-based approach&quot; and helps students to identify the human, material, financial, entrepreneurial and other resources in a community. Knowing and using the many assets within a community builds capacity for relationships, reciprocity, and a solutions orientation.</td>
<td>Cultivating Powerful Collaborations &amp; Relationships: This workshop helps students identify ways that people with different viewpoints and positions can move beyond &quot;us versus them&quot; thinking to find solutions that benefit both parties. It engages students in analyzing ideas from videos to journalism, using games for to apply critical thinking to distinguish solutions-oriented approaches.</td>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description of Theme</td>
<td>Leading Teams</td>
<td>Knowing Your Issue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In the third term, students continue their regular direct service position while also beginning to take on leadership roles, especially leading and managing other volunteers.</td>
<td>In the fourth term, students begin to learn more about the scope of the problem of the issue(s) they are addressing, the current approaches for making an impact, and identify solutions that are working to solve the problem.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Key Developmental Milestones | By the beginning of the second year, students should be introduced to capacity-building opportunities and begin to think more as leaders within their sites. Training emphasizes leadership development and project planning and management. |
| By the end of the year, your program should implement a Second Year Exchange that connects students as a cohort to a cohort at at least one other school. This can involve service, social action, training, and other elements. |

| High-Impact Practices and Coursework | • Students involved in a related minor or certificate may find themselves in Writing Intensive courses.
• In advising meetings, help student identify Service-Learning and engaged courses, especially those that may prepare them for capacity-building and research projects. | • Students involved in a related minor or certificate may find themselves in methodology courses for research or in political science or economics classes that help them understand root causes and identify and analyze potential solutions. |

| Reflection and Advising Topics | Leading others: Let’s talk about times you were an active member or leader of a team or civic community. What tools, skills, or knowledge did you use? How did this experience shape you? How did it make you feel? What have you learned about leadership? | Understanding an Issue: Let’s talk about ways that you have begun to better understand the issue you are working to address. What projects have helped you do this? What courses or trainings have helped you? What ideas for next year have surfaced? |
Suggested Second Year Workshops

<tr>
<th>Session 1</th>
<th>Fall</th>
<th>Spring</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>A Toolkit for Leading Others: This session provides participants with an approach and toolkit for service leadership, addressing the qualities and habits of effective leaders and managers. Through small group work using scenarios generated and reflection, the workshop guides participants to develop their own effective leadership strategies (especially for service).</td>
<td>Researching the Scope of a Problem: This workshop teaches students to identify and research the scope of a local social issue that is closely related to their service. This guides them through the first steps in a longer process of writing an issue brief on model programs or policies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Session 2</td>
<td>Leadership Compass - A Tool for Maximizing Diverse Work Styles: This workshop allows participants to explore work styles, as a tool for self-reflection and leadership growth. The framework encourages participants to reflect on their strengths and weaknesses across styles, in the context of leadership and a working team. It is also a tool for communication and conflict management.</td>
<td>Researching Current Programs and Policies: This workshop teaches students how to research the current approaches or prominent program models that address an issue(s) or problem. They learn how to carry out research for an issue brief and prepare for interviews with partners and experts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Session 3</td>
<td>Effective Facilitation: This workshop introduces a general approach to facilitation and a range of tools and techniques. It provides a framework for how to approach leading groups using a series of active role-plays. Students will learn some nuts and bolts they can apply in Bonner meetings, site teams, and beyond.</td>
<td>Identifying Proven Programs &amp; Practices: This workshop teaches students how to review and complete their research and take steps to conduct additional interviews or learning to finish an issue brief. The activities will build students' skills in several key competencies, including Civic Agency, Social Justice, Issue Knowledge, and Integrative Learning, as well as research and writing.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Session 4</td>
<td>Effective Meetings: This workshop provides a basic overview for how to plan an effective meeting. It introduces participants to considerations and steps for planning agendas, communicating information, delegating work, and designing collaborative activities for meetings.</td>
<td>Finalizing and Sharing an Issue Brief: This session guides students to complete an issue brief, then translate that learning by planning and leading a community forum to build understanding of the issue. This workshop guides students to share their research in an All Bonner Meeting or in community settings. Doing this process strengthens students' communication, public speaking, and leadership skills.</td>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description of Theme</td>
<td>In the fifth term, students begin engaging in projects that help to build the capacity of an organization or community or perhaps in social action campaigns. Some programs may choose to link such work with a junior/senior year capstone.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Key Developmental Milestones | • By this term, students assume a service leadership role and take on capacity-building within their sites. Some programs may implement a junior/senior capstone.
• Many students study abroad or immerse in international contexts. |

| High-Impact Practices and Coursework | • Programs with minors often engage students in relevant coursework in research methodology, which may also prepare them to link their Bonner positions with Undergraduate Research.
• Study or immersion abroad, common in junior year, also links with Diversity/Global High Impact Practices. |

| Reflection and Advising Topics | Managing projects: Describe a time you took initiative or leadership to create and/or manage a project at one or more sites. How has your work helped to build capacity for the agency or community? How have you begun to link your Bonner work and academic learning? |

Through positions and education that helping them appreciate how they are building organizational and community capacity, they also think critically about the impacts of their work and their potential future pathways.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Key Developmental Milestones | • By the end of the year, your program should engage juniors in identifying a capacity-building capstone and finding a faculty / staff advisor to guide it.
• Ideally, students have found a “sweet spot” that combines their interests, engagement role, and career goals. |

| High-Impact Practices and Coursework | • Students enrolled in a minor or certificate may have a significant school year or summer Internship, which may also prepare them for or link with their culminating capstone project. Such projects can occur in local, state, national, and even international contexts. |

| Reflection and Advising Topics | Managing organizations: Let’s talk about your reflections of your work in community engagement at this, your third, year. <td>Public Speaking &amp; Preparing Your Presentations of Learning: This workshop uses interactive exercises and peer review to improve students’ comfort and confidence with public speaking, as well as improve the quality and effectiveness of their verbal and physical communication. It includes prompts and activities to reflect on Bonner and college experiences for culminating presentations.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

| Session 2 | Resume Writing - Maximizing Your Bonner Experience: This workshop provides students structured time to update their resumes. It guides them in strategies for best capturing their service work and positions as major professional skills and assets. It will introduce writing exercises and tools (which may be augmented by your campus career services) for producing the best resumes and applications. | The Art of Interviewing: This workshop introduces the art of interviewing. It will help prepare students for conversations with employers and graduate admissions in ways that leverages their Bonner work. Students will get tips on how to articulate themselves in a way that demonstrates their qualifications and fit, as well as how to market themselves. |

| Session 3 | Through Evaluators’ Eyes - Senior Resume Review: This follow-up workshop allows students to look through evaluators’ eyes by integrating the feedback from peers and experts. By viewing their own experience and skills from a different perspective, this workshop helps participants to sharpen their experience, education, and skill sets. | Budgeting & Financing Your Life After Bonner: This workshop will help students develop a realistic budget for after college. They will be guided to think about living expenses, loan repayment, and other financial obligations. Students will leave the session with skills and knowledge for managing their post-graduate finances. |

| Session 4 | Life After Bonner - Finding Your Pathway: This workshop provides students with a chance for reflection on their Bonner journeys. Students will reflect on profiles and perspectives from Bonner Alumni, who have pursued careers across all sectors yet stayed civically engaged. Students will brainstorm potential pathways for post-graduate opportunities like employment, year of service programs, and graduate school. | Staying Well and Engaged After Graduation: This workshop engages students in reflecting and discussing their own wellness and self-care. It helps them identify strategies for maintaining supports after graduation. Finally, it guides them to think about how they stay connected to each other and to Bonner after graduation. |
The Bonner Capstone Project, otherwise known as a community-driven variation of AAC&U’s (the Association of American Colleges and Universities) “Signature Work”, is a culminating educational activity in which students integrate and apply their learning to a significant community-engaged project with meaning to the student and to society (AACU, 2015). This series of eight workshops prepare student to develop and carry out a Bonner Capstone.

#1 Explore Your Palette: An Introduction to the Bonner Capstone: This is part one (of 8) of a series for Bonner Scholars and Leaders to build a community engaged capstone that builds capacity for a community partner. In this workshop, participants identify their own passions and interests, or “capstone palette.” They explore the concept of a “sweet spot” and how they might integrate various interests with service.

#2 Primary Colors: Building a Foundation for the Bonner Capstone: This is part two (of 8) of a series for Bonner Scholars and Leaders to build an integrative community engaged signature capstone. In this workshop, participants revisit their palette to identify the “primary colors” or ideal components of their future capstone project. They discuss how capstones can integrate their service, career, and personal interests. This is designed for freshmen, to get them thinking about the future.

#3 Capacity Building and Its Link to Capstones: This is part three (of 8) of a series for Bonner Scholars and Leaders to complete an integrative community engaged signature capstone by graduation. In this workshop, students learn about capacity building and explore the types of capacity-building projects they might later do for a community partner. It positions them to identify project possibilities that might fit with their partner, studies, capabilities, and interests.

#4 Your Personal Development Plan: This is part four (of 8) of a series for Bonner Scholars and Leaders to build an integrative community engaged signature capstone. It is intended for sophomores or juniors to help them work through potential capacity-building projects they might do in connection with a partner or community need. In this workshop, participants create a strategy for finalizing their capstone project, including narrowing down the partner, project, and advisor(s).

#5: Capstone Nuts and Bolts: This is part five (of 8) of a series for Bonner Leaders to build an integrative community engaged signature capstone. In this workshop, students learn about campus and network resources available to them to create and complete a capstone project. With specific sessions for both Scholars and Leaders, students identify project funds and resources. Students learn practical tips to secure and involve staff and/or faculty advisors.

#6: Your Capstone Proposal and Work Plan: This is part 6 (of 8) of a series for Bonner Scholars and Leaders to build an integrative community engaged signature capstone. Students finalize the components of their capstone projects. By the end of this workshop, students have a complete proposal and are ready to begin in the following semester. NOTE TO STAFF: Download and edit the checklists and forms to match your program’s expectations and processes.

#7 Reflecting on Your Project, Learning, and Impact: This is part seven (of 8) of a series for Bonner Scholars and Leaders to build an integrative community engaged signature capstone. In this workshop, participants troubleshoot challenges they may face in crafting a project deliverable.

#8: Sharing and Leveraging Your Bonner Experience: This is part eight (of 8) of a series for Bonner Scholars and Leaders to build an integrative community engaged signature capstone. In this workshop, participants discuss ways to translate and share their capstone and Bonner experience to broader audiences, including employers and graduate school applications.
In addition to the problem-based learning sessions prioritized by theme (on prior pages), programs generally provide significant training and reflection on diversity, inclusion, and the Common Commitments. Below are the titles of some other workshops to consider for your class-based and all-Bonner meetings.

Note: The Bonner Foundation offers a set of more than 60 workshop modules, including these, which may be found on the Bonner Network Wiki on the Education and Reflection - Curriculum page.

Bonner Leader Program
Steps for Planning and Preparation

Below are the essential steps you should accomplish in preparing to launch your Bonner Leader Program. See the Bonner Resource Wiki for links here for links to resources on each section below. You should also have regular contact with Bonner Foundation staff throughout this process.

Staffing and Location
☐ Decide where the program will be housed.
☐ Decide who will coordinate the Bonner Leader Program in the first year and other individuals who can provide support for the program.
☐ Recruit 2-3 sophomore or juniors to assist you with the start-up steps outlined below (and then be available to serve as Bonner Senior Interns in the start-up year).

Securing Work-Study Stipends
☐ Secure the Community-Service Federal Work-Study or College Work-Study stipends for your Bonner Leaders so they can serve an average of 10 hours per week throughout the school year.
☐ If possible, identify additional sources of funding that might be offered to your Bonner Leaders (including summer service stipends).

Recruiting Your First Class of Bonners and Partners
☐ Decide how many Bonner Leaders you want to recruit for the first year.
☐ Develop marketing material (e.g., website, brochure).
☐ Develop application material and process.
☐ Recruit selection committee and process.
Beginning Your Training and Enrichment Calendar

- Plan your Bonner Orientation, ideally for 1-2 days before the regular first year orientation.
- Decide when during each week can you schedule regular training and reflection meetings.
- Plan the topics for the first year of weekly Bonner meetings, using recommended workshops.
- Consider an early January a mid-year Bonner Retreat (day-long).
- Consider a first-year service trip for sometime during the spring semester (perhaps combine with mid-year retreat).
- Build out the rest of your calendar (see page 29)

Developing Community Service Placements

- Decide which community partners would be good placements for the first year Bonners.
- Meet with community partners individually to explain Bonner Program model and begin planning service placements.
- Hold an orientation for the initial group of Bonner community partners to review goals, policies, procedures, and envision four-year developmental model at their agency.

Connecting to the Bonner Network

- Ask the Bonner Foundation staff to recommend 2-3 current Bonner directors/coordinators as mentors during your start-up phase.
- Invite Bonner Foundation staff member to visit campus during planning year and/or your start-up semester.

National Bonner Meetings

- Consider sending the Bonner coordinator/director and the student interns (Bonner Senior Interns) to the Bonner Summer Leadership Institute (late May or early June).
- Decide who will attend the New Bonner Director and Coordinator Orientation held in Princeton, New Jersey (end of July/beginning of August).
- Begin thinking about who will attend the Fall Bonner Student Congress (mid to late October).
- Begin thinking about who will attend the Fall Bonner Directors and Coordinators Meeting (early November).
Implementation Checklists

Recruitment, Selection, and Financial Aid
Finding and Supporting Your Bonners

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to recruit your Bonners and providing them with the financial aid that will allow them to engage 8-10 hours per week in the program for four years.

Recruiting & Selection

☐ Develop or update your Bonner recruitment packet and application questions.
☐ Meet with your Admissions Office to ensure they understand the Bonner Program model and the profile of the candidates you are seeking.
☐ Ensure that the Bonner Program application material is easy to find on the admissions/financial aid pages of your school’s website.
☐ Set overall recruitment and selection timeline, ideally closely linked to the school’s timeline.
☐ Organize a Recruitment Committee, including involving current Bonners in outreach to prospective candidates.
☐ Organize a Selection Committee to review applications (and engage other offices on campus).

Financial Aid

☐ Meet with your Financial Aid Office to ensure they understand the Bonner Program’s financial aid model (different for Bonner Scholars and Bonner Leaders).
☐ Prepare information packet for prospective and admitted Bonners to explain their Bonner-related financial aid.

Fundraising

☐ Meet with your Development Office to encourage them to consider named service-based scholarships that could benefit students participating in your Bonner Program.
☐ Find opportunities to put your Bonners in front of senior administrators, Board of Trustee members, and other supporters (e.g., annual year-end banquet, invitations to speak at all Bonner or class-based meetings, service events, etc.).
Staffing Your Bonner Program
and Building Campus Infrastructure

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to ensure that you have the staffing capacity to build and manage a high quality Bonner Program and broader initiatives involving community engagement. You can find relevant resources and models on the Bonner Wiki under Bonner Program Staffing.

Staffing and Student Leadership

☐ Ensure your school is meeting the staffing requirements. If you are not, invite Foundation Staff for Alignment Visit and engage senior leaders in dialogue with Foundation Leadership.

☐ Review resources and determine the best structure and composition for your Bonner Leadership Team. We recommend the size should be 15-20% of your total Bonners (i.e., 12 for a 60 person program; 4 people for a start-up of 20). Make sure to engage:
  ☐ Bonner Senior Interns (or Program Associates)
  ☐ Bonner Congress Representatives
  ☐ Site/Team Leaders
  ☐ Committees and Roles as needed

☐ Personally recruit Senior Interns and Congress Representatives (as well as other interns) for talent and diversity (gender, race/ethnicity, work style, etc.).

☐ Examine your site structure also and engage Site / Issue Leaders.

☐ Train and manage student leaders in core skills using available workshops.

Campus Infrastructure and Center Development

☐ Review Self-Assessment Tool to gauge current level & functioning of your center and campus-wide infrastructure.

☐ Do recommended exercises (such as mapping) to identify goals and areas to improve.

☐ Work with Foundation staff to identify models and resources.
Below are some essential steps you should focus on to ensure that your Bonner Program implements a scaffolded, intentional, and outcome focused series of workshops and educational activities. Remember that the standard is to include Class-Based Cohort Meetings at least every other week!

Schedule and Staffing
- Determine the schedule for your meetings for each class year (at least 2 per month or four per semester).
- Discuss whether you will have any courses involved (and at what stages).
- Identify who can assist with planning and leading meetings.

Use Recommended Workshop Content
- Start with the recommended 8 Themes curriculum and workshops (4 per semester and led by staff or with staff guidance).
- Plug in the Bonner Capstone workshops (1 per semester) so that they will work according to your project timelines (i.e., junior and/or senior year).
- Make sure to do the Bonner Capstone workshops for at least the freshmen and sophomores this year to stay on track with full integration.
- Fill in with other Bonner Curriculum workshops, especially those focusing on the Common Commitments. All Bonner Meetings are a good place for these.

Round Out Your Calendar with Campus Offerings
- Determine how many All Bonner Meetings or Retreats you will do.
- Fill in with other campus-based sessions (speakers, partners, other offices, etc.) or other curriculum that addresses community and campus events, sense of place, and issues.
- Delegate who will lead based on the topics and level of facilitation needed (staff, Senior Interns, BLT, faculty, etc.).
Cornerstone Activities
Pivotal High-Impact Practices

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to ensure that your Bonner Program implements Cornerstone Activities. Remember that there are extensive resources for planning these on the Bonner Network Wiki (see links on the home page).

Overarching To Do’s

☐ Review examples and resources for Cornerstone Activities.

☐ For Orientation, make sure to integrate introductions to core Bonner frameworks (i.e., Student Development Model, Common Commitments), place-based learning, and identity exploration

☐ For First Year Trip, think about the place or destinations that will work best for you
  ☐ distinctive context
  ☐ institutional partnerships
  ☐ location
  ☐ costs
  ☐ logistics

☐ For Sophomore Exchange, think about potential partner schools or strategic events
  ☐ programmatic lessons
  ☐ developmental and strategic experiences
  ☐ location
  ☐ costs
  ☐ logistics

☐ For Junior Immersion, such as trips, develop partnerships (i.e., Study Abroad, Bonner Partners, etc.) and determine what might be sustainable. You may want to consider a campus-wide or international component.

☐ For Junior/Senior Capstones, begin to articulate the expectation and examples during recruitment and to this year’s freshmen (and perhaps others)

☐ For Senior Presentations of Learning, review and beef up your guidelines, linking them with at least one defined learning outcome
  ☐ implement the suggested workshops
  ☐ use the Bonner Rubric
One-on-One Advising
Regular Developmental Meetings

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to ensure that your Bonner Program integrates meaningful advising meetings with students at least once per semester. Remember to draw on examples of forms and questions that are available on the Bonner Network Wiki and in this handbook.

Overarching To Do’s

☐ Identify who can help with one-to-one advising:
  ☐ Director and Coordinator
  ☐ Other staff and faculty, etc.
  ☐ Some programs have a Class Advisor

☐ Develop or use recommended questions and forms that include a holistic focus:
  ☐ Positions and internships
  ☐ Majors and coursework
  ☐ Wellness and social life
  ☐ Post-graduate planning

☐ Integrate written reflection assignments that are linked developmentally to each semester.

☐ Use recommended prompts or develop them from learning outcomes.

☐ Set up a schedule for each semester.
Community Partnerships
Building, Maintaining & Managing Partnerships, Placements & Projects

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to ensure that your Bonner Program and campus-wide center builds and maintains a diverse range of community partnerships that meet community-defined needs and engage students in developmentally challenging service.

Building & Maintaining Community Partnerships
- Identify three types of partners: service providers, collaboratives, and campaigns.
- Schedule one-on-one meetings with partners.
  - Use Service Opportunities Form to develop roles for students in: a) direct service, b) service leadership, c) capacity-building projects, and d) social action campaigns.
- Write or update position/project descriptions in consultation with partner.
- Add/edit position and project descriptions in BWBRS.
- Organize orientation for all primary community partners to introduce Bonner development model, expectations, reporting process, and academic calendar.

Managing School-Year Student Placements
- Decide on approach to orienting new students to service philosophy, developmental model, and reporting expectations.
- Decide on approach for matching students to service sites.
- Decide on schedule for students to submit signed hour logs (bi-weekly suggested) with related benchmarks in terms of hours logged.

Managing Summer Service Internships
- Introduce students to expectations, resources, and calendar timeline for securing summer service internship.
- Communicate to summer service partners the Bonner model, expectations, Bonner or campus funding (when available) and hour log tracking and end-of-summer evaluation process.
- Set up process for communicating with Bonners during their summer internships, including check-ins during the summer and end-of-summer evaluations and reflections.
Campus-Wide Engagement
Institutional Infrastructure, Collaboration, and Support

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to ensure that you build a sustainable and high quality Bonner Program that also leverages and fosters institutional resources for community engagement. Additionally, these steps will help you to grow the capacity of your own staff and centers and to garner the support and resources you need for a robust, effective infrastructure.

Institutional Infrastructure (and Reporting Lines)

☐ Existing programs, do an honest appraisal of where you are housed and the strengths, concerns, and opportunities for greater institutional support.

☐ New programs, carefully consider and discuss where you will be housed and the strengths, concerns, and opportunities for greater institutional support.

☐ Review the Self-Assessment Tool, especially categories for center infrastructure and institutionalization. Self-concrete goals for what you need to focus on first.

☐ Develop your budget and benchmark your institution’s allocation of resources (use Bonner Wiki and Campus Compact resources to help).

Campus-Wide Collaboration

☐ Have lunch with representatives from each department highlighted here:
   ☐ Admissions
   ☐ Financial Aid
   ☐ Academic Leadership and Key Departments
   ☐ Career Services
   ☐ Chaplain/Religious Life
   ☐ Multicultural Affairs
   ☐ Study Abroad
   ☐ Public Relations/IT

☐ Build and strengthen relationships by getting individuals connected to Bonner!

☐ Understand and assess how other students are getting engaged (clubs, organizations, Greek Life, courses, etc.). Develop a campus-wide strategy (that leverages Bonner student leaders)
Faculty Engagement and Development

☐ Make time to do a thorough survey and inventory of which faculty are engaged and in what ways. The Bonner Foundation can give you models.

☐ Engage Bonner student leaders in helping by meeting with faculty (chairs and key leaders) across campus. (This can build and reposition the understanding of Bonner on campus).

☐ Pick a few foundational strategies for faculty, such as sharing literature, helping with reflection, and recognizing faculty.

☐ Invest time in 1-2 transformational strategies, such as a Faculty Fellowship Cohort or others (especially those that will help with capstones)

☐ Existing programs especially, do an honest appraisal of faculty engagement and identify which transformational and alignment strategies are most needed.

☐ Join a supportive learning community with the Bonner Foundation and Network to help you. Contact a Foundation staff member!

Institutional Support

☐ Have lunch with representatives from each department highlighted here:
  ☐ Admissions
  ☐ Financial Aid
  ☐ Academic Leadership and Key Departments
  ☐ Career Services
  ☐ Chaplain/Religious Life
  ☐ Multicultural Affairs
  ☐ Study Abroad
  ☐ Public Relations/IT

Integrative Learning and Capstones
Creating Pathways Across Curriculum and Co-Curriculum

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to integrate capacity-building capstones into your Bonner Program. Remember that this culminating Bonner Cornerstone should be in place for all programs in the next four years (communicated to this year’s freshmen). Additionally, leverage Bonner to be a catalyst and model for campus-wide change and integration of community engagement.

Bonner Program Integration
- Existing programs, review juniors and seniors’ positions and projects to gauge degree of capstone integration at present.
- Review BWBRS, site information, and partners’ requests to inventory and identify capacity-building projects.
- Read and become familiar with the concepts and examples.
- Communicate capstone expectation to incoming freshmen starting this fall.
- Existing programs, determine which individuals or classes you will engage in capstones during 2018-2019.
- Use the workshop series this year (at least with freshmen and possibly other students).

Campus-Wide Integration
- Concurrently determine what opportunities for pathways exist
  - majors
  - interdisciplinary
  - competency based pathways (i.e., Leadership, Social Entrepreneurism)
  - issue based pathways (i.e., Health, Poverty)
- Build relationships with key allies (i.e., faculty, chairs, provost, president, VPs, etc.)
- Become an Opinion Leader (i.e., someone who cuts across boundaries, shares knowledge, and persuades others to try it)
Bonner Alumni Network
Connecting Graduates with Students, Programs, and Each Other

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to strengthen and maintain alumni relations with your Bonner Program. Additionally, these steps will help you leverage your alumni to provide capacity support for current and prospective Bonners.

Engage Alumni
- Identify Student Alumni Ambassador(s) to create and foster student-alumni relations in your Bonner Program.
- Plan/Sponsor an alumni event during homecoming for Bonners.
- Highlight alumni at Bonner Meetings as outstanding stewards - invite students and alumni to recommend others for recognitions.
- Align alumni involvement opportunities with your Bonner Program and Bonner Network needs and goals.
- Work with Student Alumni Ambassador(s) to promote student events that alumni may be invited to attend and support.
- Connect with Alumni Office to enhance flow of information to Bonner Alumni.
- Track and evaluate alumni-students interactions.

Leverage Bonner Alumni
- Identify key alumni to serve as advisors to help engage and connect alumni with one another.
- Plan at least one meeting or event per semester to utilize alumni as educators and mentors.
- Meet with your Student Alumni Ambassador(s) twice a semester to gage ways your alumni population can be most helpful to your program.
- Increase opportunities where alumni can play a meaningful role with students (i.e., advisors to your program or center, fostering community partnerships, and persuades administrators).
- Utilize alumni to increase awareness and understanding of your Bonner Program (i.e., interviewing and recruiting prospective students, student development, career service, networking, etc.).
Reporting and Tracking
Data Collection, Reflection, Planning, and Story Telling

Below are some essential steps you should focus on to ensure that your Bonner Program and campus-wide center builds and maintains a diverse range of community partnerships that meet community-defined needs and engage students in developmentally challenging service.

Tracking and Managing Students
- Establish process and calendar for reviewing Bonner hour logs in BWBRS or alternative.
- Establish calendar for written reflections and 1-on-1 meetings each semester.
- Put reporting and other expectations into Bonner Handbook, including process for handling students who do not meet them.

Annual Report to Bonner Foundation
- Gather requested information (i.e., descriptions of capacity-building projects, senior capstone projects, annual training calendar, best practices).
- Meet with staff to review prior year annual report goals and self-assessment.
- Meet with staff to set Bonner Program and campus-wide goals for coming year.
- Complete self-assessment on SurveyMonkey.
- Write and submit annual report letter and other requested information (usually due early May).

Annual Report to Campus and Public
- Set up data collection system to track and describe number of students, hours, and outcomes/outputs for the following types of community engagement:
  - One-time service
  - Weekly service engagement
  - Service leadership
  - Service internships (school year and summer)
  - Capacity-building projects
  - Social action campaigns
- Track and describe campus and community-based training workshops and speakers, academic community-engagement courses, funding received, and other institutional efforts.
- Publicize annual report data and stories in print and electronic publication, and on center/school website.
Key Initiatives
Meetings and Campus Support

Below is a short list of key priorities and initiatives of the Bonner Foundation and Network at this time. Keep these in mind as you create your work plan for the year.

Priorities

☐ Develop partnerships and projects that engage students and faculty in building higher level community capacity building and impact.

☐ Communicate a capstone project requirement to at least first year and second year Bonner students (to be on track with full adoption). Completing a junior and/or senior capacity building capstone is a cornerstone activity that your program should be on track with fulfilling.

☐ Develop relationships and strategies to work with faculty and senior leaders on curriculum and institutional change initiatives that integrate community engaged learning. Integrate resources and supports to engage and train faculty, ask them to mentor student capstones, and work in partnership on institutional change initiatives.

☐ Create a center annual report and other communications that shifts the narrative about the work of the Bonner Program and your campus center to demonstrate its value and impact to the institution and community.

Below is list of the upcoming meetings you should keep in mind. Remember that campus representation at national Bonner Meetings is an expectation.

Upcoming Meetings

☐ 2019 Fall Bonner Congress: Two student leaders who are part of the Bonner Leadership Team and designated as Congress Representatives should attend. Centre College (Danville, KY from October 4-6, 2019).

☐ 2019 Fall Bonner Directors and Coordinators Meeting: Bonner staff and a faculty liaison (especially for campuses involved in the Community-Engaged Learning Initiative) should attend. Claggett Center (Adamstown, MD from November 3-6, 2019).

☐ 2020 Bonner Summer Leadership Institute: The 30th Anniversary Event: Your team of staff, student leaders, and faculty representatives should attend. Allegheny College (Meadville, PA from June 3-6, 2020).

Staying in Touch...

Weekly Email Update via BWBRS

We send out a weekly email update to all Bonner staff and students via BWBRS. We share Foundation updates, network news, meeting announcements, and highlight new resources and opportunities from our national partners.

Bonner Staff Google Group

We established a Google Group so Bonner staff can make announcements, ask questions, and raise important issues with other staff in our network.

Friend Bonner Love!

Nearly 3,000 have friended the “Bonner Love” profile, where you can add your program photos and updates.

Join Bonner Alumni Network on LinkedIn

More than 900 alumni and staff veterans are part of this group on LinkedIn. In the coming year, we’ll launch new resources and updates via LinkedIn for community engagement professionals and alumni.

Follow us on Instagram, Snapchat & Twitter

We actively use these sites to share pics and information, especially during meetings. This is a good way to connect with more information from your Bonner friends and about the field.

Walking Directions

As you exit the Bonner Foundation at 10 Mercer Street from the front, turn left. Walk down Mercer Street towards Alexander Road, crossing it, until you see a traffic light. Take a left from the stop light onto the Princeton Seminary Quad.

- Park behind the Princeton Seminary Library (Building L) and then go to Erdman Hall.
- You can enter parking from Library Place, off Mercer Street.
- Mackay Dining Hall is to the right of the square parking area. It is marked M on the map below.
- Mackay Hall Main Lounge is on the left as you enter the Mackay Building.
- Erdman Conference Center is Building I on the map. This is the location where people will stay.

An alternative is to cut through the Foundation's backyard across the grass, then cross Alexander onto the Seminary Quad area. Follow a foundation staff member. Below is a map. We have marked the Bonner Foundation there.
