The Leica Gallery Los Angeles' space was designed to celebrate photography and display exhibitions by an interesting mix of established and up-and-coming photographers. It includes a library filled with collectible photography books curated by Martin Parr and will feature cultural highlights such as Yibai's "Fake Leica," a sculpture of enormous dimensions that is valued at $1 Million. The gallery's first-year roster of artists will focus on the year of "rock and roll and entertainment." Exhibition artists include Mary Ellen Mark, Yariv Milchan, Seal, Astrid Kirchherr's The Early Beatles collection and Andy Summers. Leica photographers Craig Semetko and E J Camp have also signed on to do exhibitions in Spring 2014. Between events, gallery openings, and Leica product launches, the Leica Store and Gallery LA will become a major hub in the world of Leica and photography." visit leicagalleryla.com

WineLA is about enhancing the wine culture of Los Angeles one event at a time. To do so, wine must be in rhythm with fashion, music, food and other beverages. It must take advantage of the geography, the architecture and the centers of interest. Los Angeles is a giant playground with an amazing array of venues, spaces, wine bars, restaurants, beaches, rooftops, gardens, and magical views. We are a part of the LA lifestyle, the wine lifestyle, and celebrate the people, the place and the passion.
