UMD-HBCU GRADUATE MENTORING SCHOLARSHIP FUND IN CULTURAL, COMMUNITY, AND HEALTH SCIENCES

Account #: 21-31153

Fund Purpose:

The UMD-HBCU Graduate Mentoring Scholarship Fund in Cultural, Community, and Health Sciences was established at the retirement of Dr. Tony Whitehead, honoring his legacy and continuing passionate commitment to providing mentorship to graduates of Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) interested in pursuing a graduate degree in anthropology with a focus on community health action research. Awardees will be mentored first by Dr. Whitehead, and eventually by other UMD faculty members involved in anthropological, ethnographic, or community health research or professional practice. Once this fund reaches endowment level, all contributions made into this account shall be transferred into an endowed fund.

Contributions can be made online or through personal check.

Online. The Fund has two accounts to which donations can be made:

1) Donations for less than $50, go to the Fund's Support Account:
