

OUR DRINKS

Welcome to Muse, where good food, great wine and the written word come together in intriguing new ways.

Our drinks list celebrates the work of independent Australian producers - from Margaret River malbec to sparkling Mudgee merlot and everything in between. We've travelled the country, meeting the people and exploring the regions that have made Australia such a fascinating place for those who like a good drink.

So sit back, relax and order something you haven't tried before. We think you might be pleasantly surprised.

And the man in the corner? He's our Muse, G.D. Perrotet (1890-1971) – artist, raconteur and the man who designed the book with wings that we now use as our logo. We like to think he'd have enjoyed himself here, with a glass of red in one hand and a slim volume in the other.

WINE FLIGHT - MARCH 2017

MALBEC

It's officially autumn and even if the weather doesn't agree our thoughts are already turning to crisp nights, fine gauge knitwear and good red wine. This month our focus is on Malbec – a red varietal that, though originating in the Bordeaux region of France, had to wait until its arrival in the New World to be developed to its fullest potential. Malbec has become synonymous with the high-altitude Mendoza region of Argentina, where fruit-forward, velvety-smooth examples of the variety have charmed the palates of critics and drinkers alike for decades.

Malbec has been grown in Australia since at least the 1860s with significant old plantings still producing in South Australia's Clare Valley and Langhorne Creek regions. Traditionally, though, it has played second (or third or fourth) fiddle to other varietals like shiraz and cabernet sauvignon. Recently, some local winemakers have begun to celebrate Australian malbec's particular appeal by producing some stand-out single varietal wines. Our wine flight this month takes us across the country, from a wine made by an intrepid Frenchman on Kangaroo Island, to one from an experimental vineyard in Heathcote, to another grown on the rich, fog-shrouded slopes of Margaret River's Wilyabrup sub-region.

Look out for blackberries, violets, dark chocolate and plenty of pleasantly mouth-puckering tannins as you wrap yourself up warm and contemplate mists and mellow fruitfulness.
